Foreword

During twenty-six years of growth and achievement, definite lanes of learning and accomplishment have become associated with Lamar High School. Each fall, as almost two thousand students enter Lamar, every individual finds a challenge and an invitation to know and use these lanes to and from the school. The hallways and shady walks of the campus, the highways to the sports stadiums, and the roads to meetings with new friends and excitement see moments of disappointment or triumph, of frustration or joy. All make up three wonderful years of education and mental growth. The 1965 ORENDA tries to capture in words and pictures the moods of these lanes which you have lived and will always remember.

Life

Save Shelley

Lamar's life is made up of the countless daily experiences of all its students. It is a club initiation, the Friday night ball game, and the weekly math test. Most of all, it is a unique spirit of work, fun, sports, and friendship in which every Lamar student plays his own part.

Nobody told me Lamar had an observatory! Sophomore orientation was "a ball" for these sophomores who received maps of Lamar from Charlene Tomfohrde and Debbie Elliott.

I've got something in my pocket that belongs across my face . . . "Tanglefooters" hoof at their back-to-school dance at Sagewood.

First-of-School Action

Cherokee heads have a heavy load (of work)! Mary Tompkins, Cherokee President, is carried out of Cherokee Assembly by Barbara Mendell, Anne McClelland, Julie Hines, Nance Hines, Betty Bornefeld, and Candy Tovar, Cherokee heads.

Colorful costumes and flowery dialogue were characteristic of the Mikado presented in October under the direction of Mrs. Norma Lowder.

First Fall Production

Tension, pressure, pain! Ah-so! Paul Gandy, David Williams, and Terry Kent, gentlemen, say "Ladies first" to Donna Lilly, Charlotte Willingham, and Beverly Mussina.

We have nothing to fear but fear itself. David Hunter, Bill Shelton, Susan Jones, Dennis Terry, and Eddie Orlando are happily waiting in the office.

Who're you waitin' for, Lawrence? These are

What do you mean you want a Wall Street Journal? Donna Bond, Fran Blundell, and Elisabeth Berndt get their first look at a Lamar Lancer. Like?

School—Uck!!! Eagerness overwhelms Suzie Smith, and Mary Berry as the bell rings for morning classes.

Mornings,

Tick-tock, the game is locked. Randy Hinds, Dillon Ferguson, Lynn Wolf, Hollye Fisk, and Buck Bland do a little parking-lot catching-up.

Lamar students waiting for that first bell at 8:30.

And a goody-good morning to you. It's the Kaye and Charley Show. Kaye Parks and Charles Raulston give the morning devotional and announcements.

So what's your model airplane doing in my locker? Loyal Brown, Tony Gregory, Ginger Kramer, Ann Foiles, and Vanda Greenwood stash their books in tidy lockers.

Before 8:30

It's between Mary Hada Littlelamb and Wild Bill Fisk. Candy Haralson, Student Council representative of Mrs. Glen Chase's homeroom, and Billy Harrison count votes in a homeroom election.

The bisector of an angle of bracket fungi equals Edith Hamilton's Mythology. Dorian St. Clair pledges allegiance and thinks of unfinished homework.

That perfect bliss and sole felicity. Laura Overton jumps with joy, amidst varied responses, over club-drawing announcements.

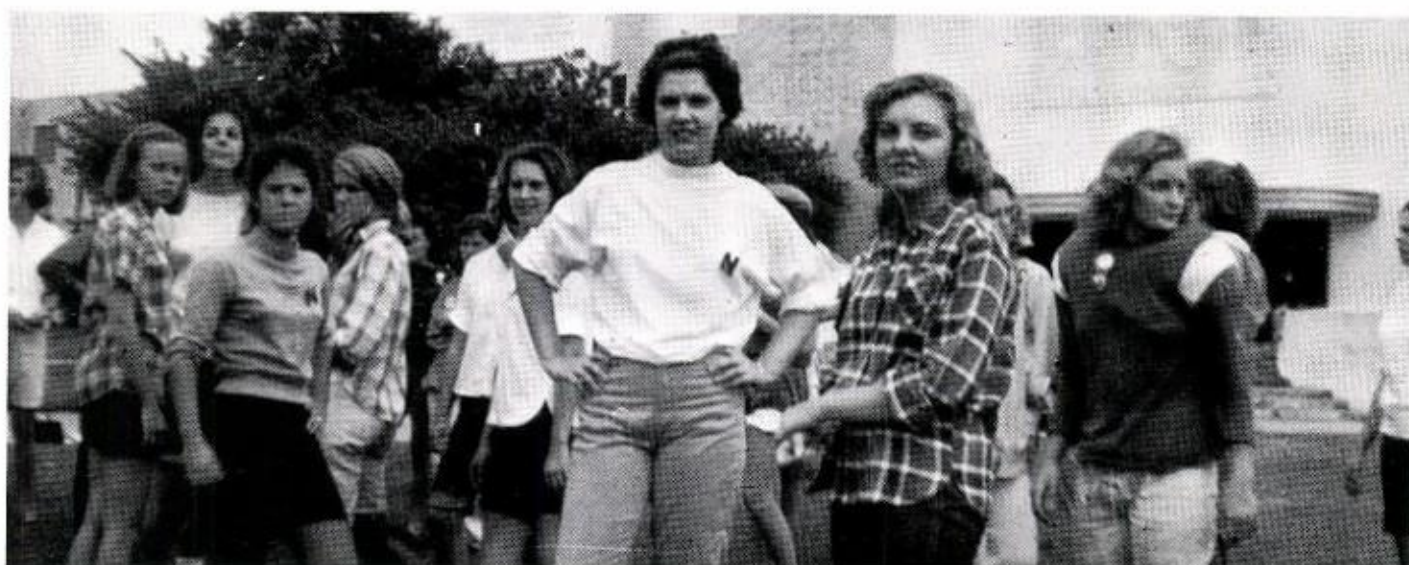

Whoopee!

Andy and Kingfish advertising catfish! These happy faces are on Bill Telford and Steve Redding—Irari heads.

The quarterback drew back and pitched out to the wingback, who went through the three-hole—well she tried anyway!! Patricia Torrence, Mija Kenter, and Judy Bracewell participate in Mook-Scum Football.

Ah! Hah! Saniflush! Brush your teeth with a toilet brush! Pete Blackledge supervises a head brigade.

Let me entertain you. Kathleen Bland had fun during initiation.

Save me! I'll be good. I swear! Mollie Grave's promise is a typical one heard during initiations.

What nerve! Our Sunday best and they still laugh at us! These Niwauna "scums" assemble for their maneuvers.

— Initiations

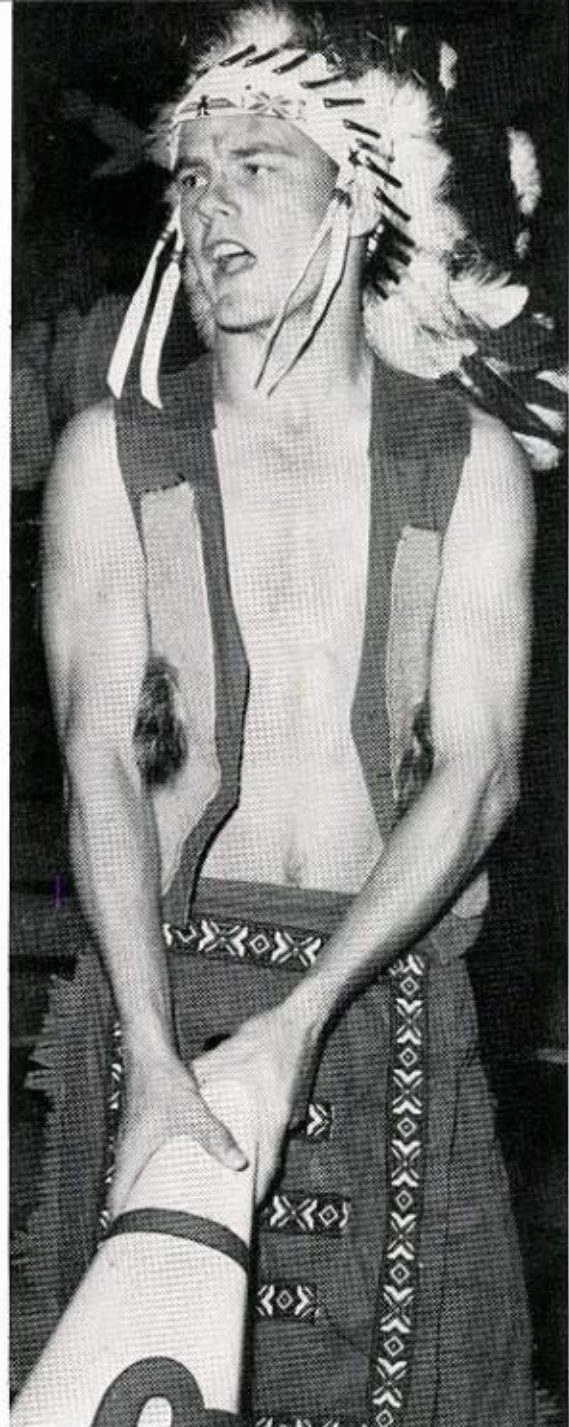

I'm Queenie and this is my loyal subject. Parachute jumper, Carolyn Hamilton, feels like a dog and so does her subject.

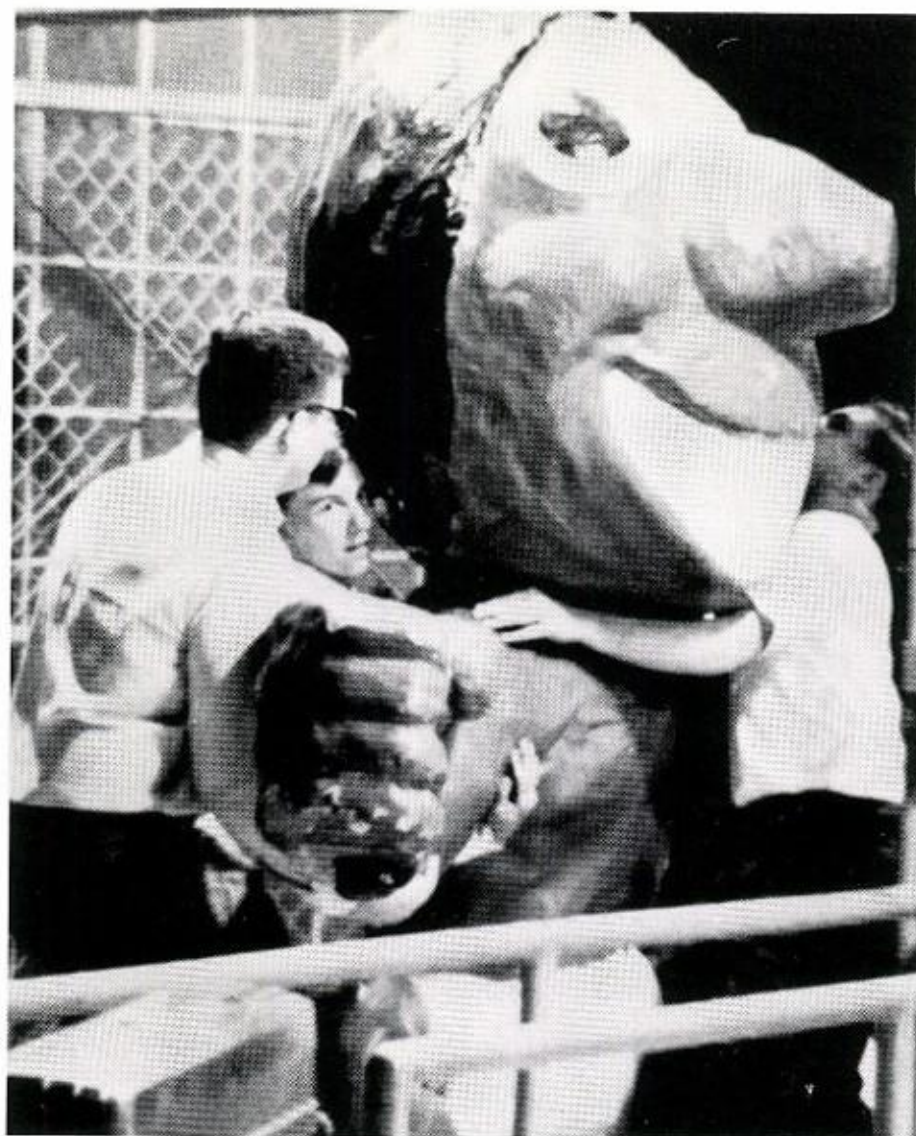

C'mon, pick a tune. I can dance to anything! Mook Susie Jewell entertains her big sisters during the Mirabeau Breakfast held at Leslie Peterson's house.

Please trade with me, Edana. Your rose is bigger than mine. Mary White, Pam Ferguson, Edana Coole, and Pam Greenwood prepare for formal installation—the last step before membership.

Aw! The Parents League is no authority on Indian dress. Many thanks to George Bland who portrayed little Red so grandly.

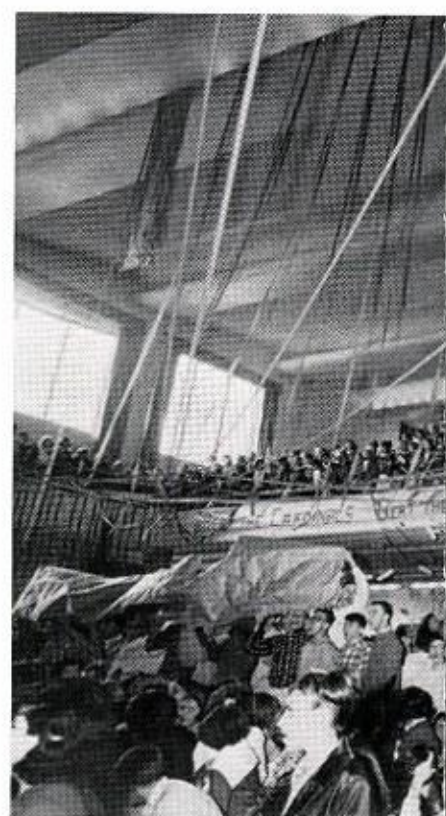

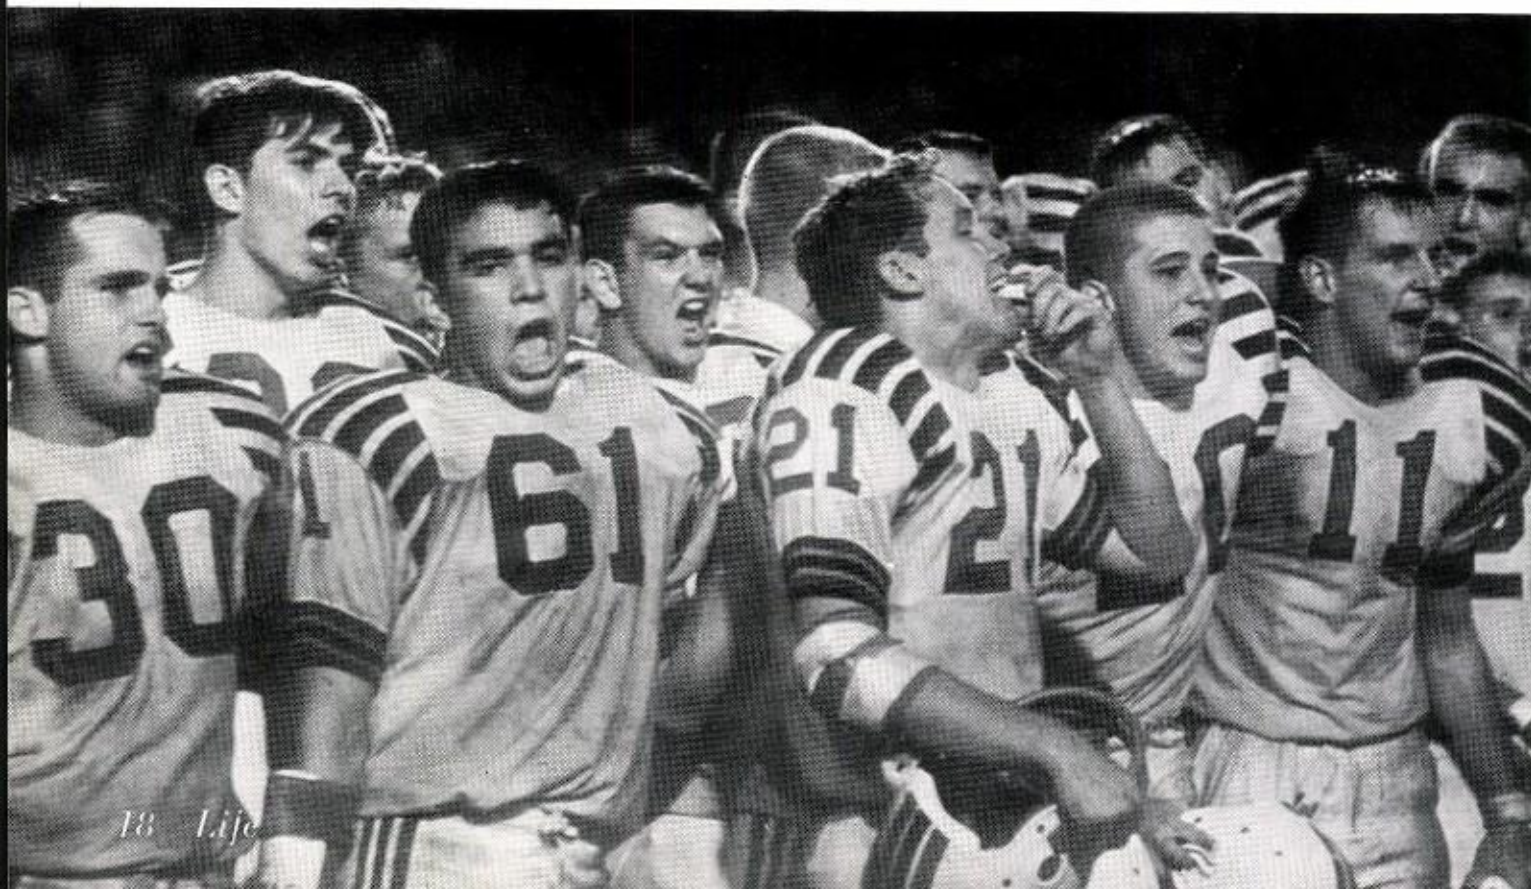

"Let me go! I don't have to pay—I'm top man on the totem pole!" Little Red and Big Red make a happy twosome out on the field.

"Hey! Somebody get the tom-tom! This is Mrs. Loop's lunch! Margie Clinton, Joyce Crook, Vicki Floyd, Diane Townsend, Martha Locke, and Joan Crook sold game tags and symbols to buy Big Red a tom-tom.

Football:

We love you, Gene-O, oh yes we do; we love you Gene-O and we'll be true. Jim Gardner, Bob Lakin, David Wheatley, Lynn Wolf, and Roger Leinert are front-row sopranos for the alma mater, concluding the Lee game.

Homecoming, Bellaire

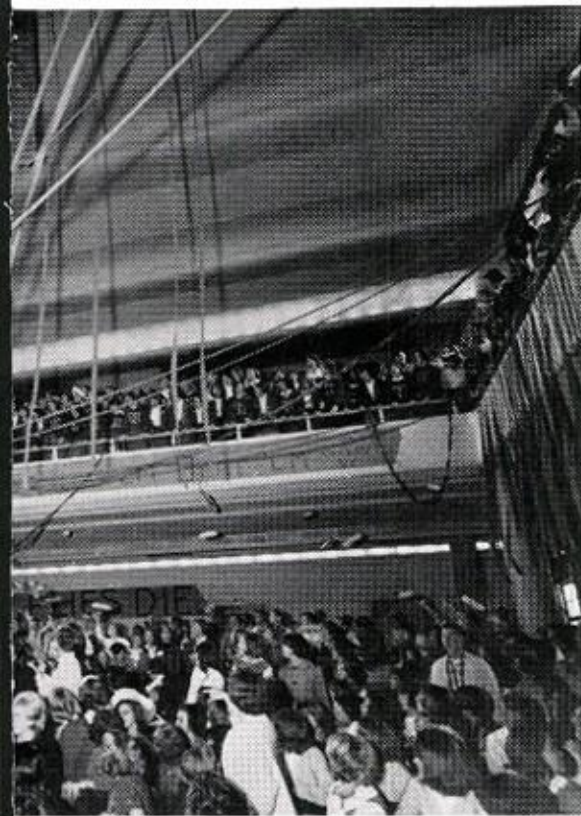

The picture is worth a thousand words, and more! Anxious expressions prevail as the kickoff starts the Jones game.

Look who's hanging around! Pow Wow members helped Larry Rodgers put up elaborate decorations for the Bellaire pep rally, and these Senior girls helped blow balloons.

decorations and people at the Bellaire pep rally.

Don't you see? Learning the monkey is not an appropriate goal in life! Dr. Howard Crow's talk to the girls' P.E. classes proved enlightening and beneficial.

Ay! Lamar es grande! Tammy Flake's visitor from Ecuador, Maria Cabezas, liked Lamar almost as much as Lamar liked her. Tammy stayed with Maria when she visited Ecuador with Operation Amigo.

Visitors and Assemblies

What do you know? I just got hired! Mr. Lee Duggan's civics class was host on Business Education Day to Mr. Jim Meredith, who is visiting here with Jess Moorman, Kathy Hopkins, Milton Otto, Jimmy Wicoff, Robert Turner and Bill Redfield.

Chris criticized trailer-hitched caddies! Miss Louise Fuller and Jimmy Kalpaxis, sponsor and editor of the Lancer respectively, introduced Chris Chandler at an assembly during Newspaper Week.

Sadie's Kiddieland

We wuve the slide! Lilly Kucera and Randy Hinds were elected Janie Jump-rope and Willie Watergun for the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

Supreme! What an ace idea! Kathy Hopkins, Jim Gilley, Sarah
Bell, and Jim Alexander revert to childhood in Kiddieland.

Charlie Brown does not wear a dress, Marijo! Jennifer Beery, Marijo Lindsay, Diane Townsend, Karen Parks, Susan Underwood, and Mollie Graves are hard at work on Sadie Hawkins posters that hung prominently in the halls.

You're such a thweet, thweet boy! George Scott looks on dubiously as Jerry Goff goes into his act.

We get all the leftovers! The Cherokee Council sponsored a Christmas Breakfast for Lamar teachers. These council members and gym teachers are finding advantages in being good providers!

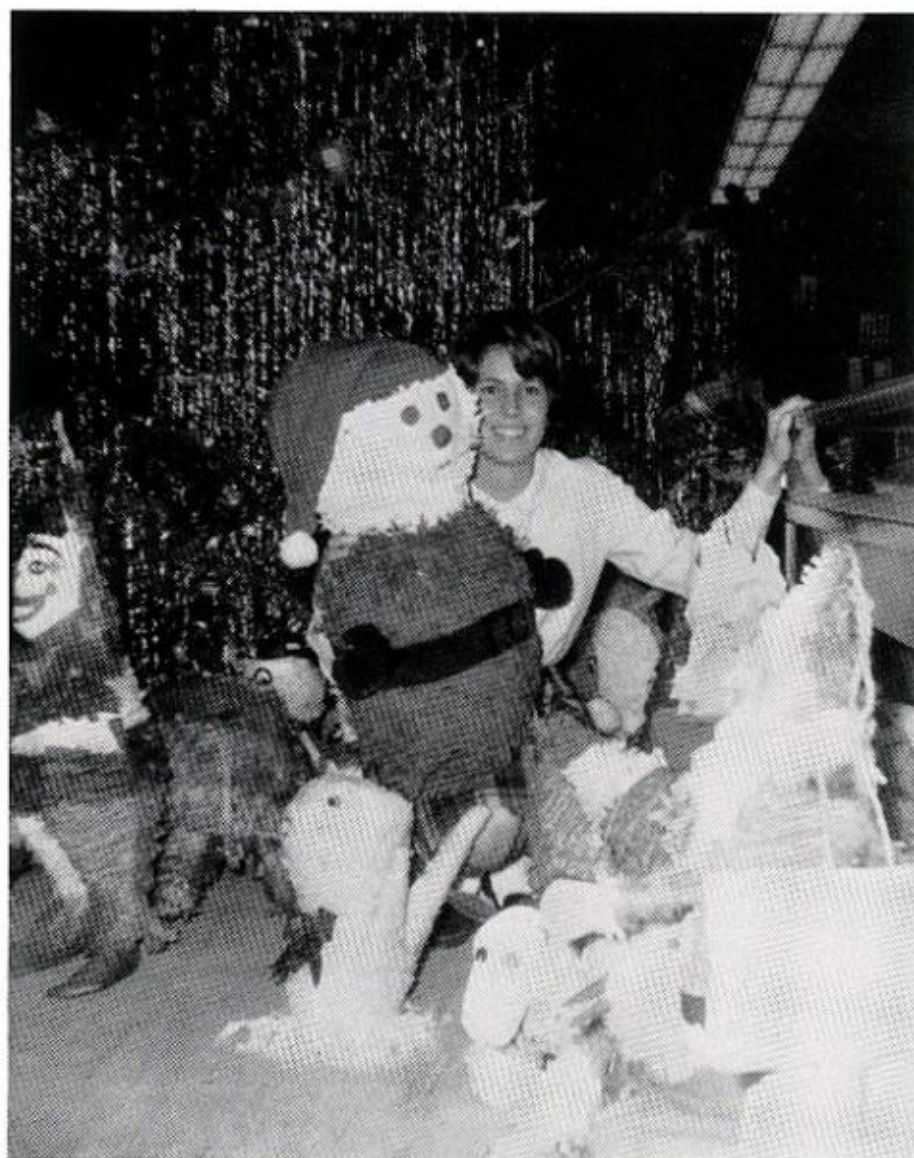

Hooray for teas and pastry! Donna Alley, Pam Smith, honoree Julia Bayer, Jill Echols, and Barbara Skaggs are surveying the goodies, typical of the many Christmas teas.

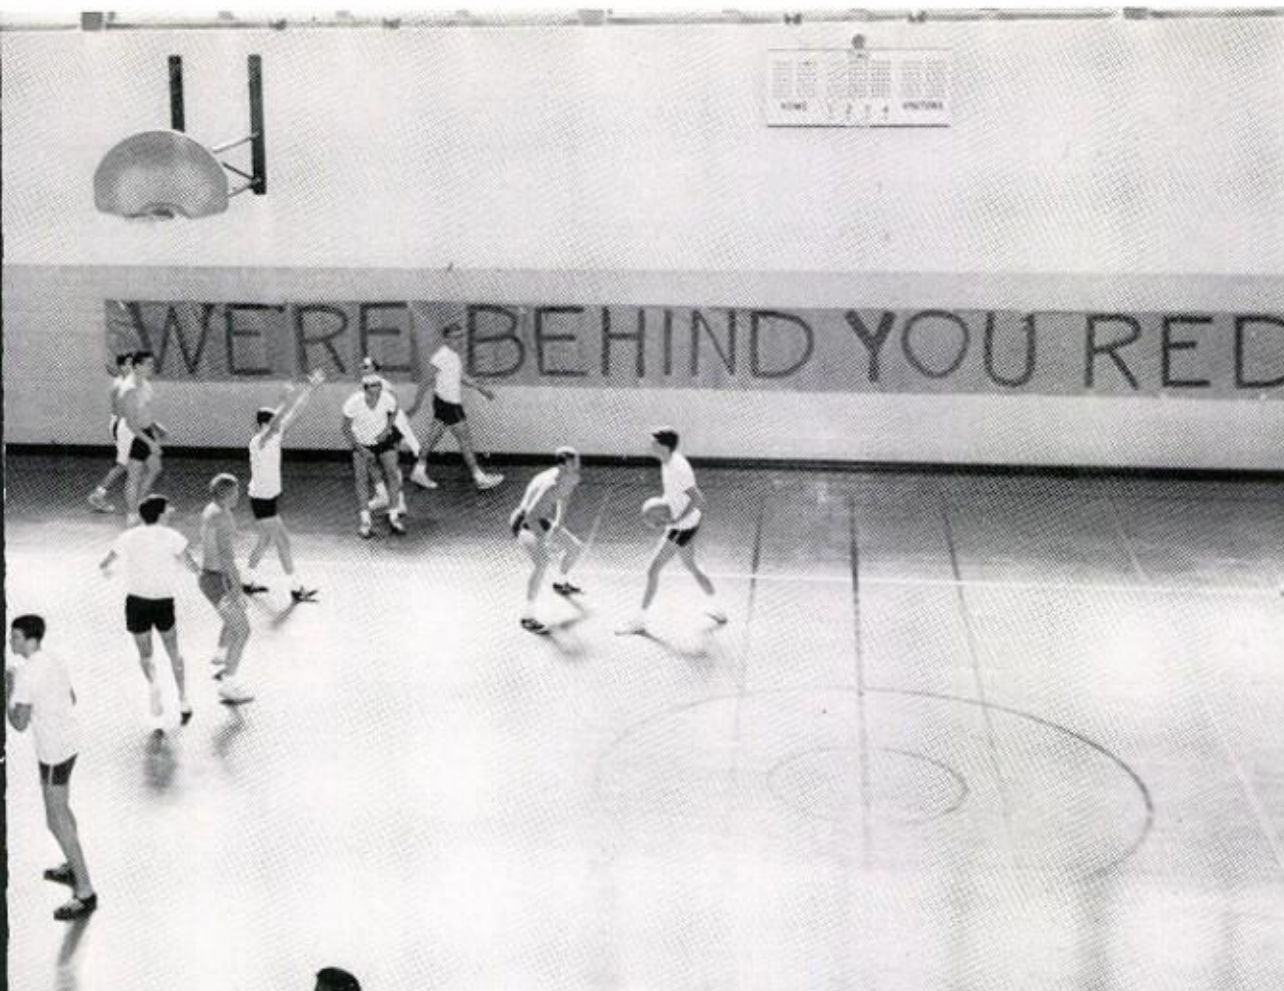

We're off to see the bird house! These mixed chorus singers—Patty Huser, Patty Dickson, Linda Childers, Martha Mortimer, Mendy Mendenhall, and Mary Lee Kilgore—are smiling in anticipation of their Christmas performance in Washington, D.C.

Christmas Cheer

Happiness is being generous! Betty Bornefeld displays the piñatas that were made by Spanish students and given to needy children.

Team One and Two and Three and Four!—you can't use the same basket! Boys' P.E. classes play on the sunlit fields of competition.

Pitfalls of P.E.

The pause that refreshes! Susan Reed, Donna Bond, Susan Sims, and Kerry Jo Pung find a coke as essential as a comb after gym and before class!

If it weren't for gym, could we ever cram? Tommy Travis takes advantage of every spare minute to study.

Wait! I dropped the cardinal—er—birdie. Badminton is one of the favorite sports of the girls' P.E. classes. Monnie Boudreaux, Lulu Santamaria, Janet Muckleroy, and Carrie Cochran demonstrate.

Look! A man-eating tarantula on my potato chip! Anabeth Goleman, Linda Loggins, Mary Jo Thorning, Carol Cox, and Prissy Goss enjoy the privilege of an outdoors lunch.

A peek into the private world of the teachers. Lunch in the teachers' lounge can be fun, as Principal Harold Costlow and faculty members demonstrate.

Lunch:

I'm glad we don't have to wash 'em! Diane Hubbard, Judy Simmonds and Susan Wheatley stop for a glass on the way to their table.

Some guys got all the luck! Tom Burriss's stormy expression can mean just one thing: happy Mike Dowell grabbed the last hamburger. The cashier is Angie Fenton.

Outside and Inside

Hold it!—you're bound to need something! Patty Dickson, Carola Powers, and Mary Berry have detained James Hubbard and William Cadwallader in a typical act of the Lamar cafeteria's supply-and-demand principle.

Heavenly aroma and friendly chatter. Students at Lamar enjoy the comforts of home in their cafeteria.

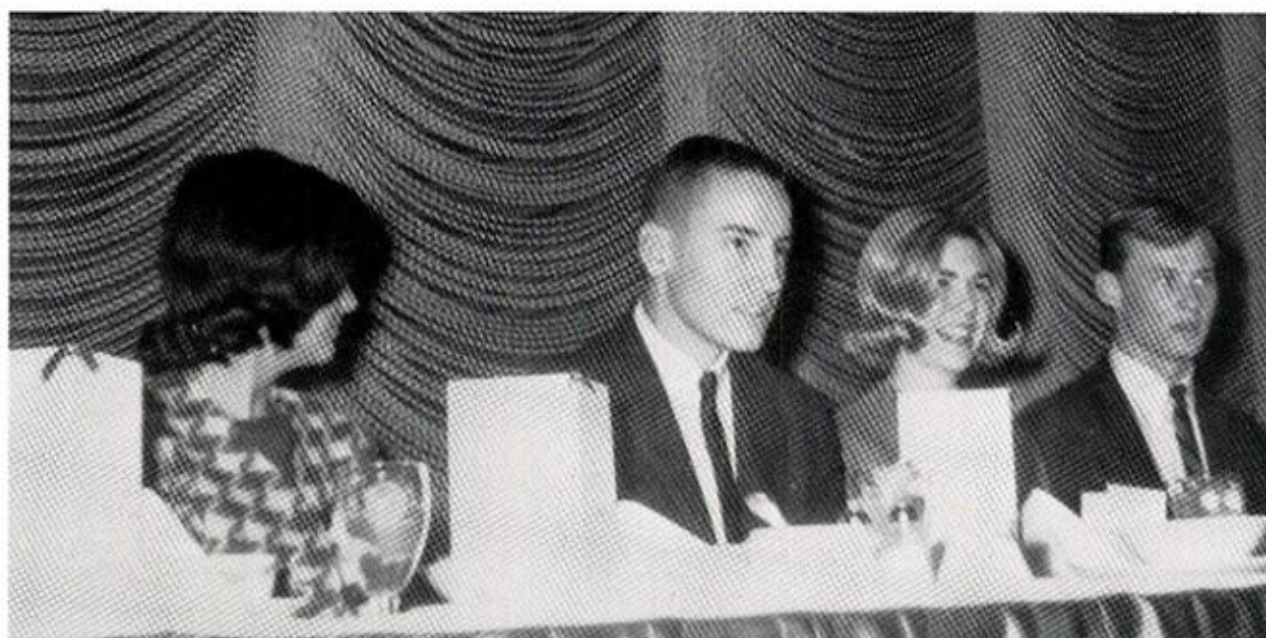

Be brave, my Constant, and I'll sock him in his big ugly eyeball. Jeff Suttles, Linda Merritt, and Steve Mims starred in this year's rollicking Mirabeau Melodrama, "Egad, What a Cad."

Mr. Nixon shall rise again! Young Republicans meet to discuss plans for the state convention. Members include George Shipley, Charles Parker, Linda Walker, and Alice Wightman.

Goings On

The girls get in on the act. Roger Schramm and date, with Steve Williams and Ann Adams, enjoy the football banquet.

Alison Anderson, Susan Giles, Mary Settlemyre, and Carolyn Gayle attended the interesting seminar at St. Luke Church.

Oh, I'm getting seasick. Good thing we only graduate once. Joe Engel and Toby Tovar seem to be ignoring Sharon Mitchell's complaints at the Senior Picnic aboard the Sam Houston.

This is better than homework any day! Mr. Bill Fisk seems to be separating the athlete's from the spectators at this sophomore football game.

at Lamar

Sure we dress up on retreats! Part of every student's life is religion. Here Eleanor Jones, Ellen Noble, Janeice Wright, Kay Hankinson, and Tira Overstreet prepare for prayer on a St. John's Church retreat.

Two teaspoons of mustard, 5 ounces of lime, 3 eggs . . . Carol Muckley and Nancy Hervey find time in chemistry to mix their friends a little surprise.

What a build! Ann Bowman, George Scott, and Debbie Elliott exhibit a likeness (?) of Casey Williams that they have created in art class.

Hi Ho! It's off to work we go! Betty Buck, Forrest Landry, Betty Miscoe, Distributive Education students, leave for their jobs at noon.

Perpetual

Now students, you've had these words since Spanish I! Mrs. Sarah Earle is pounding vocabulary words into the heads of Spanish VII students Lynn Frankie, Cynthia Buechel, and Carol Cox.

Snore, snore! The Lamar library furnishes students with many necessary reference materials.

Classes

Happiness is a Choralette show! Ann Mooney, Kathy Boehme, Nancy Hervey, Carla Hull, and Bess Baker wave "bye, bye" as they skip off to a Choralette show.

So I want four kitchens in my house! Basim Zabak, Tom (The Face) Brittain, Mickey Krueger, Jeff Lewman, and Phillip Thomas all seem interested in one project in architectural drawing class.

You know you make me wanna shout! Randy Hinds demonstrates his favorite dance step as Cyd Curbo does the shouting.

Some people get all the breaks! Malcolm Pettigrew, Chris Service, and Tira Overstreet display the "plastered appendages" that made them famous.

Personalities

People think I'm crazy! Carole Kelley's "wooly" eyelashes were one of the fads Lamar enjoyed this year. She made them herself.

Come on, Billy, get to work! Billy Black seems only to be supervising his classmates in shop. He must be playing teacher.

We're KILT's new competition! Rick Smith, Larry Swann, Lee Hodges, Arthur Howard, Gary Grether, Bruce Hill, Bill Hubbard, Jimmy Kalpaxis, Dennis Schneringer, Jess Moorman, Bill Usher, Bill Rudersdorf are ham operators.

Can we really make ice cream in an hour? Shirli Whiston looks doubtful; but Ginger Rogers, Diane Stone, and Kay Hilliard are willing to try.

Varied Interests

What's the deal! Dickie Medlin, David Fudge, and shy Charles McClure have been caged up for some reason by their FFA buddies.

Hook 'em Longhorns! Carolyn Hamilton, Adele Perry, Mary Tompkins, Gay Velmann, and Sarah Mendell, Camp Longhorn friends, entertained camp buddy Petie Miller from Burnet, Texas, in these woody surroundings.

This group had 41% fewer cavities! Sophomores gather for a Saturday morning coke party.

Parties, Parties, and

You couldn't keep us out of a good party—we like the food! Sally Gregory and Mary Pollard relax at one of the many Senior luncheons.

My dog's bigger than your dog . . . Only Janeice Wright seems to be paying any attention to Sarah Mendell's song. Susan Underwood, Eleanor Jones, Barbara Kennedy, and Sally Riggs are too busy enjoying this party honoring Kay Hankinson.

Eat all you can. You've got a long time to go! Mija Kenter, Leslie Davis, and Patty Dickson examine pictures and prepare for the long night ahead at this slumber party.

What's wrong, Marian? Cat got your tongue? Lawrence Cook, La Noe Bolling, and date laugh, although Marian Brandes seems to be in a little difficulty. Cheers!

More Parties

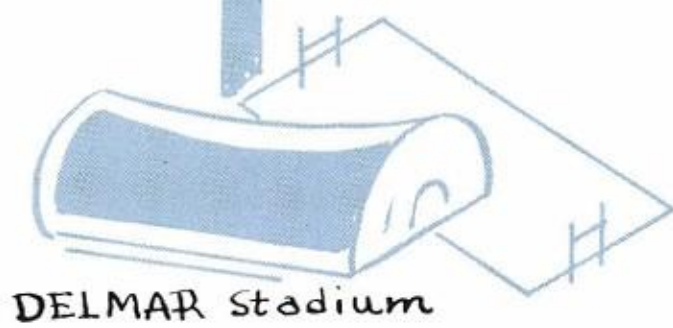

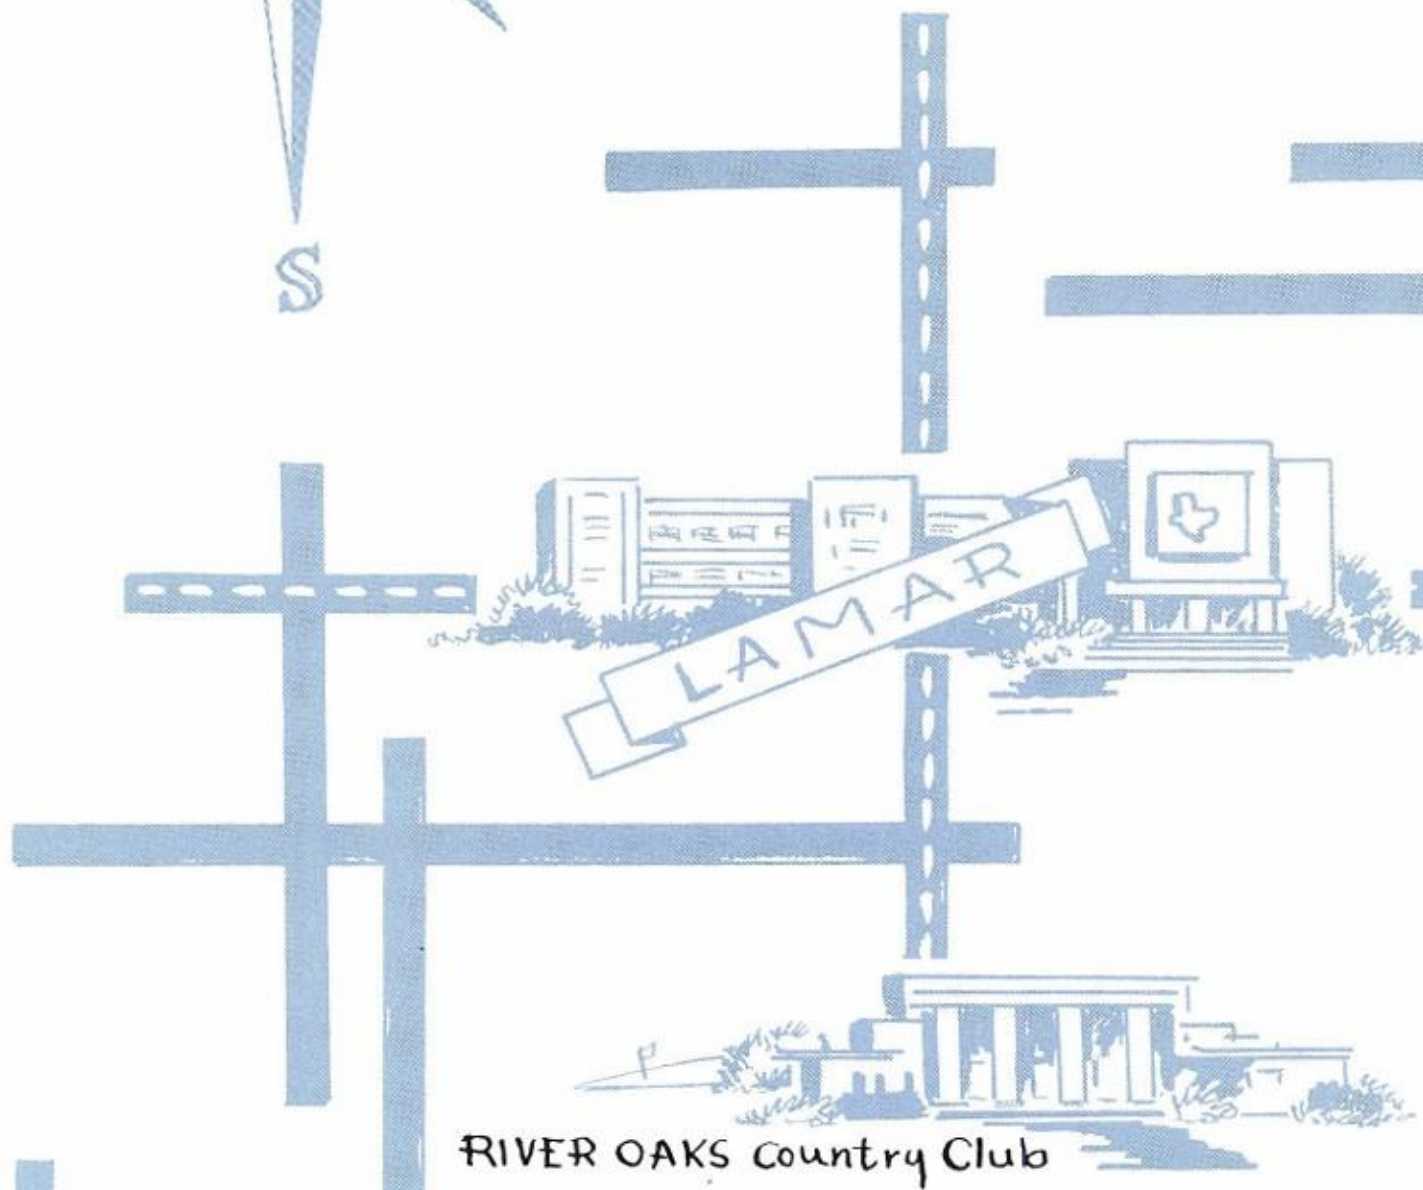

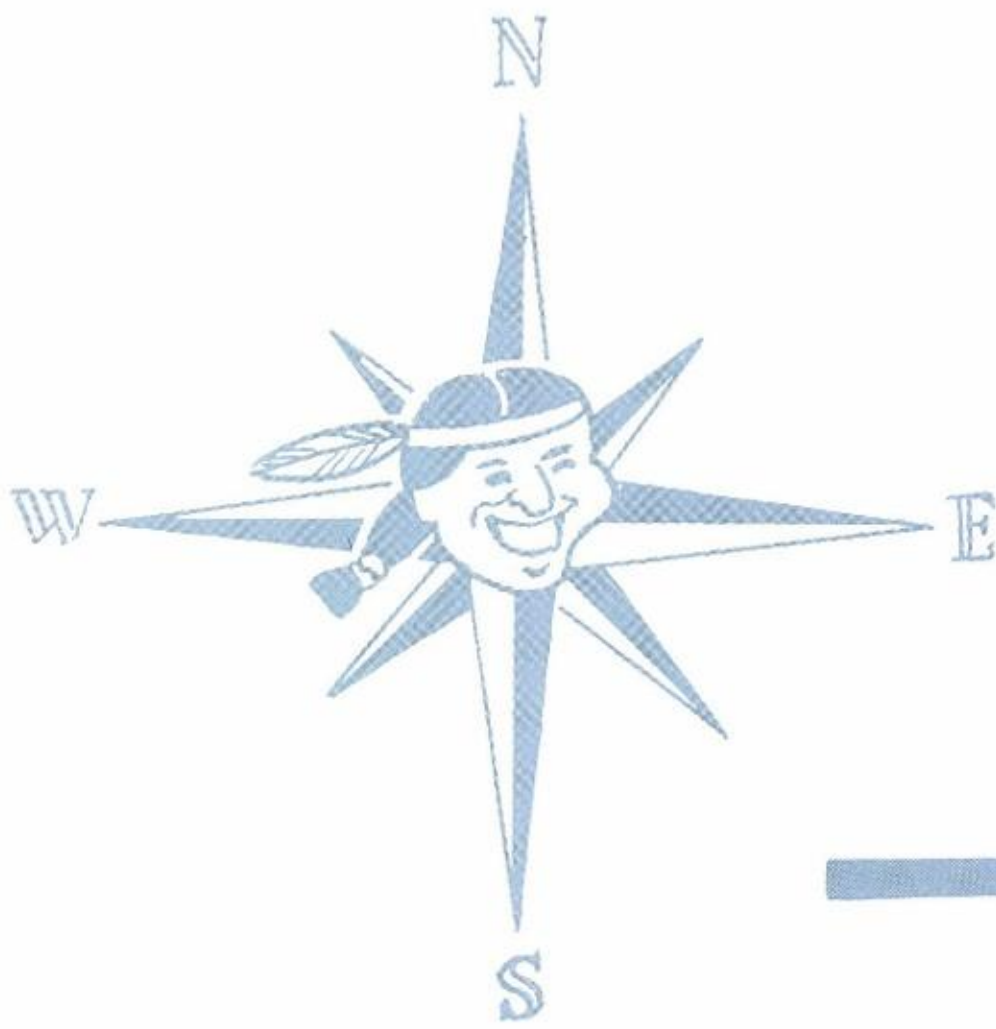

Oh, I hope this is the right day! With all the confusion, Charlene Tomfohrde wonders if she's at the right party.

There's a picture of James Brown. Pictures are the thing for a slumber party agree Charlene Lusk, Debbie Elliott, Susie Jewell, Terry Tunks, and Linda Kav Jackson.

Challenge and Research

Studies in the sciences and in mathematics are of utmost importance at Lamar. Courses ranging from Algebra to analytics and from biology to physics place emphasis on challenging problems in the classroom and individual exploration, either with the slide rule and compass or in one of the well-equipped laboratories.

Each year a small handful of students are selected and honored because they represent the best qualities at Lamar. They have excelled in scholastic accomplishment, beauty, or friendliness and have brought honors to themselves and to Lamar.

Bob Hope

Lamar has many students who mark themselves as outstanding, whether they be . . .

Beauties—selected on the basis of physical attractiveness

May Fete Court—chosen by fellow students for personality and good looks

Ladies and Gentlemen—elected by the student body on the basis of graciousness and thoughtfulness to others

Outstanding Students—so named because of their far-above-average leadership, scholarship, activities, and service

Other celebrities who gain their titles through their abilities, organizations, or school contests. They all fall into one category—Limelight.

With the track team cheering them on, Joe Engel and Barbara Skaggs show the winning personalities which helped elect them Most Popular January Graduates.

Most Representative January Seniors, Nance Hines and Fred Matthews, are ready to warn all unsuspecting students about the "chug" holes in Lamar's parking lot.

Susan Jewell and Bill Earle, Most Representative among the students, can give only their small share in representing the school at its games.

Most Popular, Susan Murray and Steve Mims feel right at home on the stage where they have led so many pep rallies and participated in other Lamar activities.

National Merit Semi-Finalists Bill Peebles, Robert Westheimer, Dan Young, Stewart Wilber, Marion Langdon, Bruce Jenett, Kenny Telford, Alison Hill, Bruce Hill, and Dennis Schneringer use their time for seeking intellectual improvement and broadening their skills.

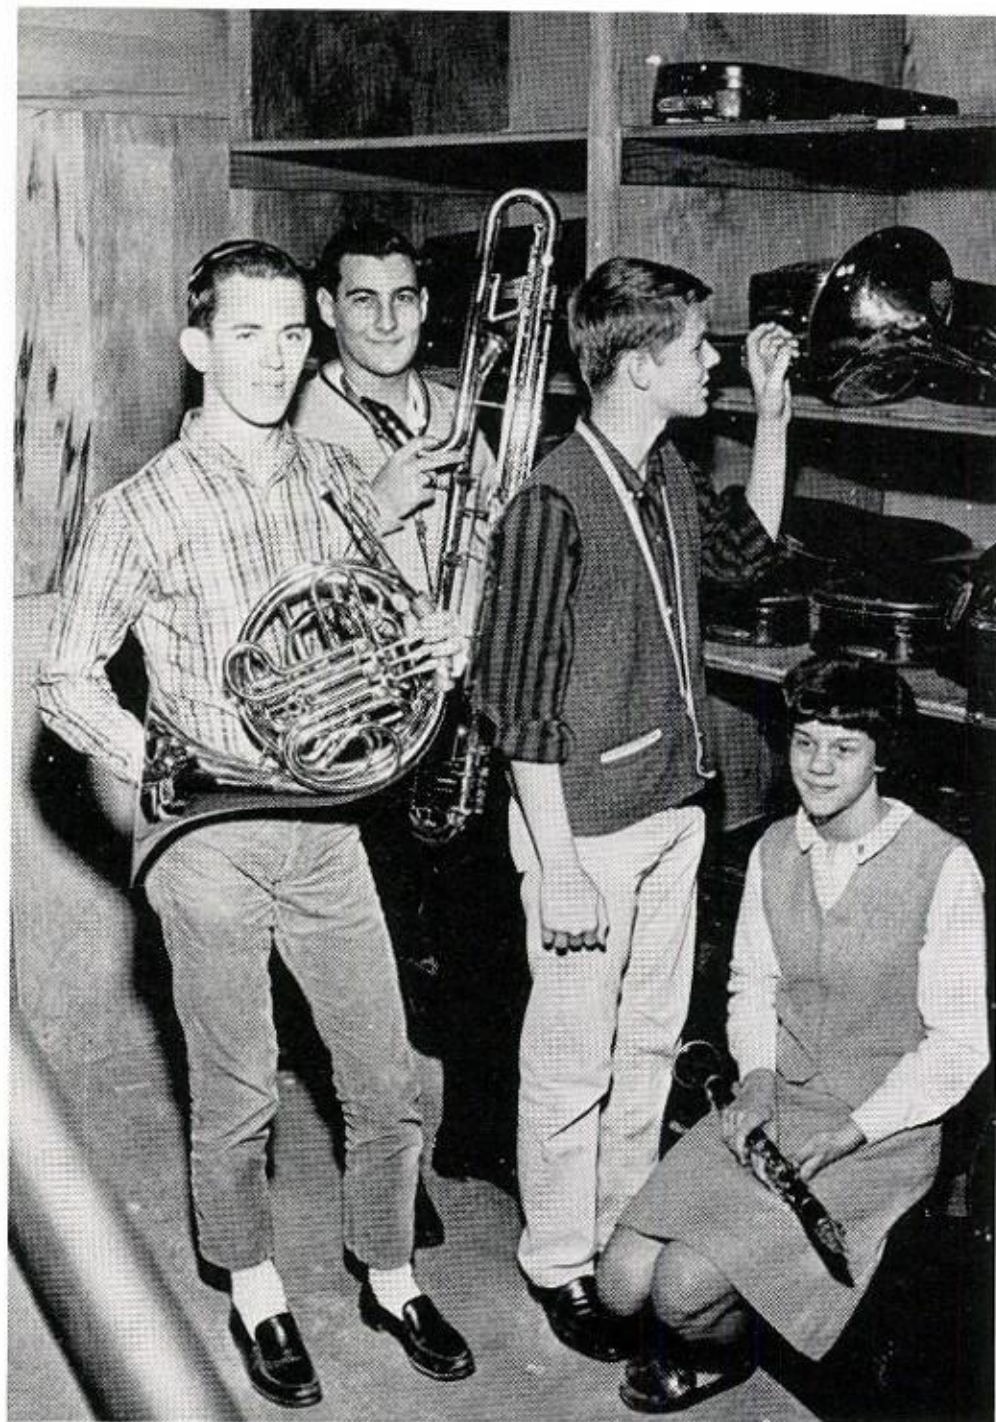

Outstanding Representation

The unforgettable performance of The Sound of Music featured the Governess, Candy Tovar, here with children in the cast and Terry Tunks as Liesl.

The target might not have lasted to the end, but Jaia Barrett came out on top by winning the City Archery Tournament in November.

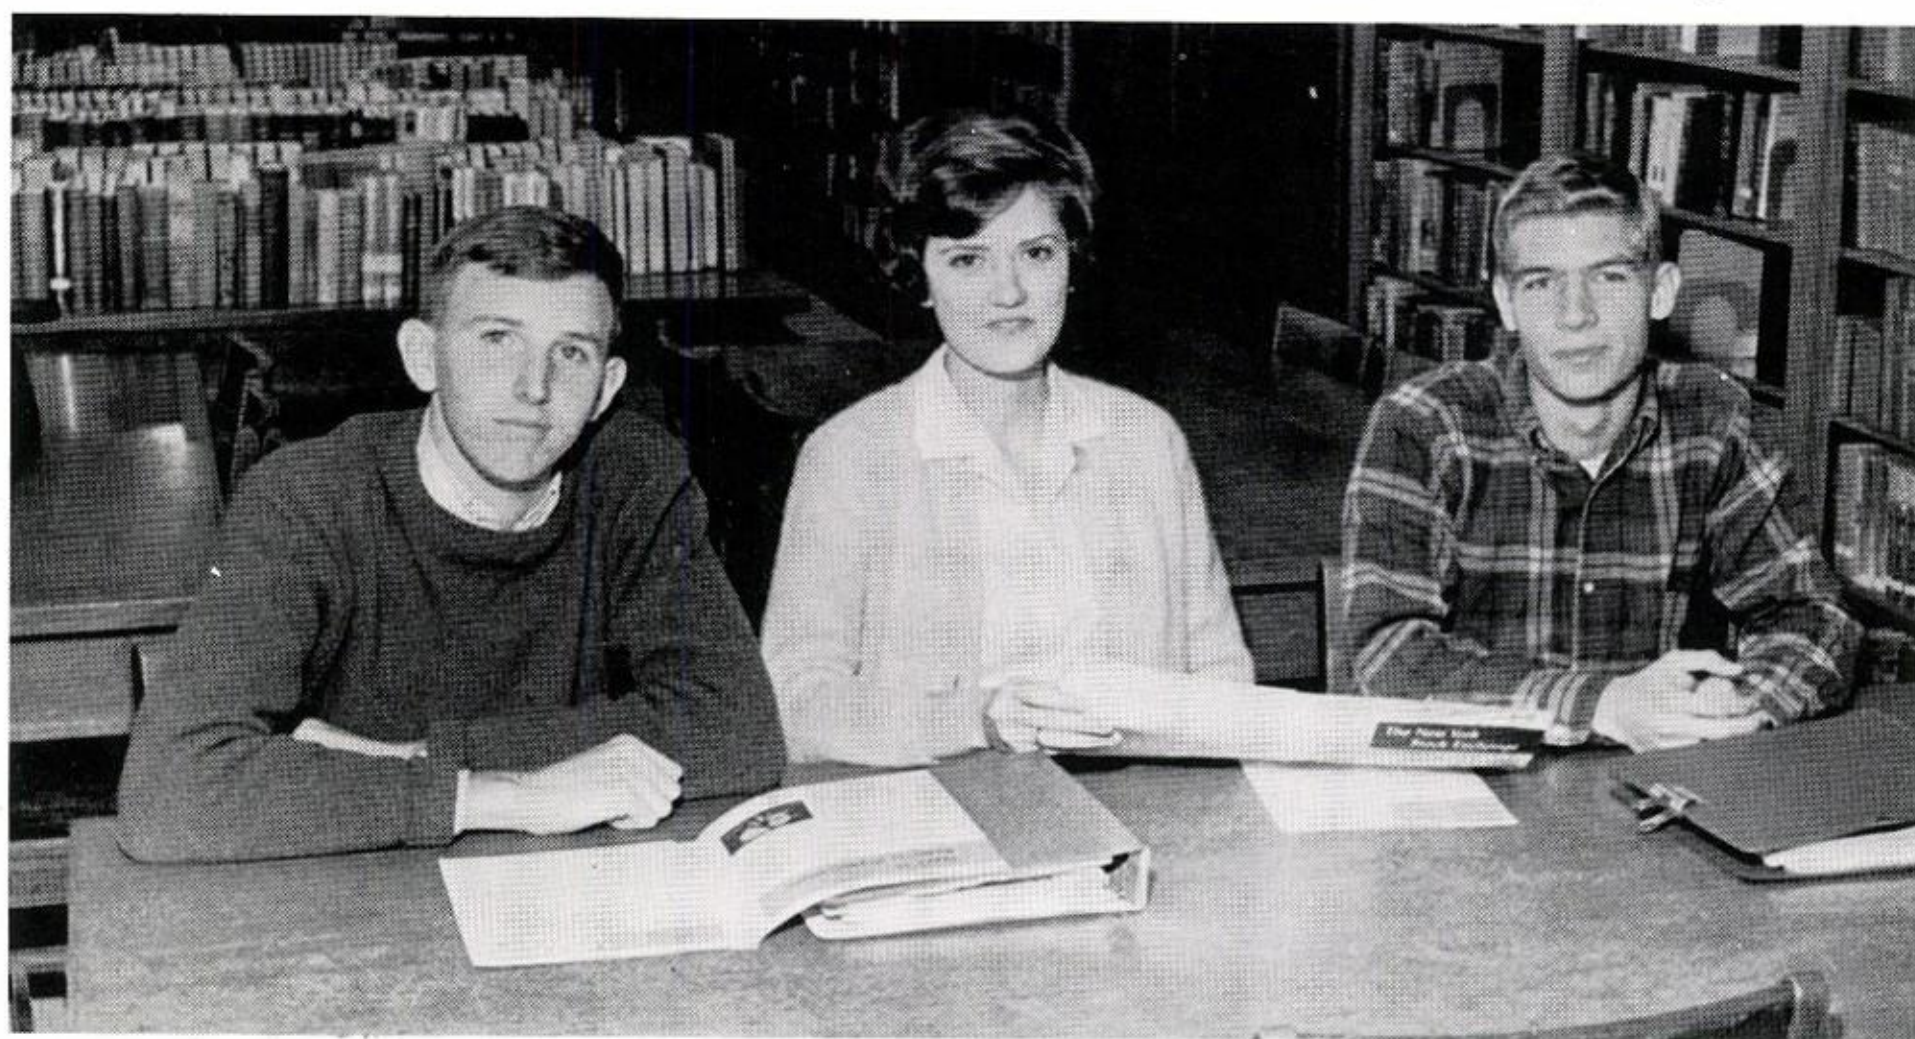

Members of the All-District Band—Don Barron, Simos Georgiandis (All-Region), Wayland Pickard, and Karen Kleiderer—are caught practicing in one of their dark, hidden corners.

Randy Spears and Debbie Greene brought honors to themselves and to Lamar by becoming members of the All-State Orchestra.

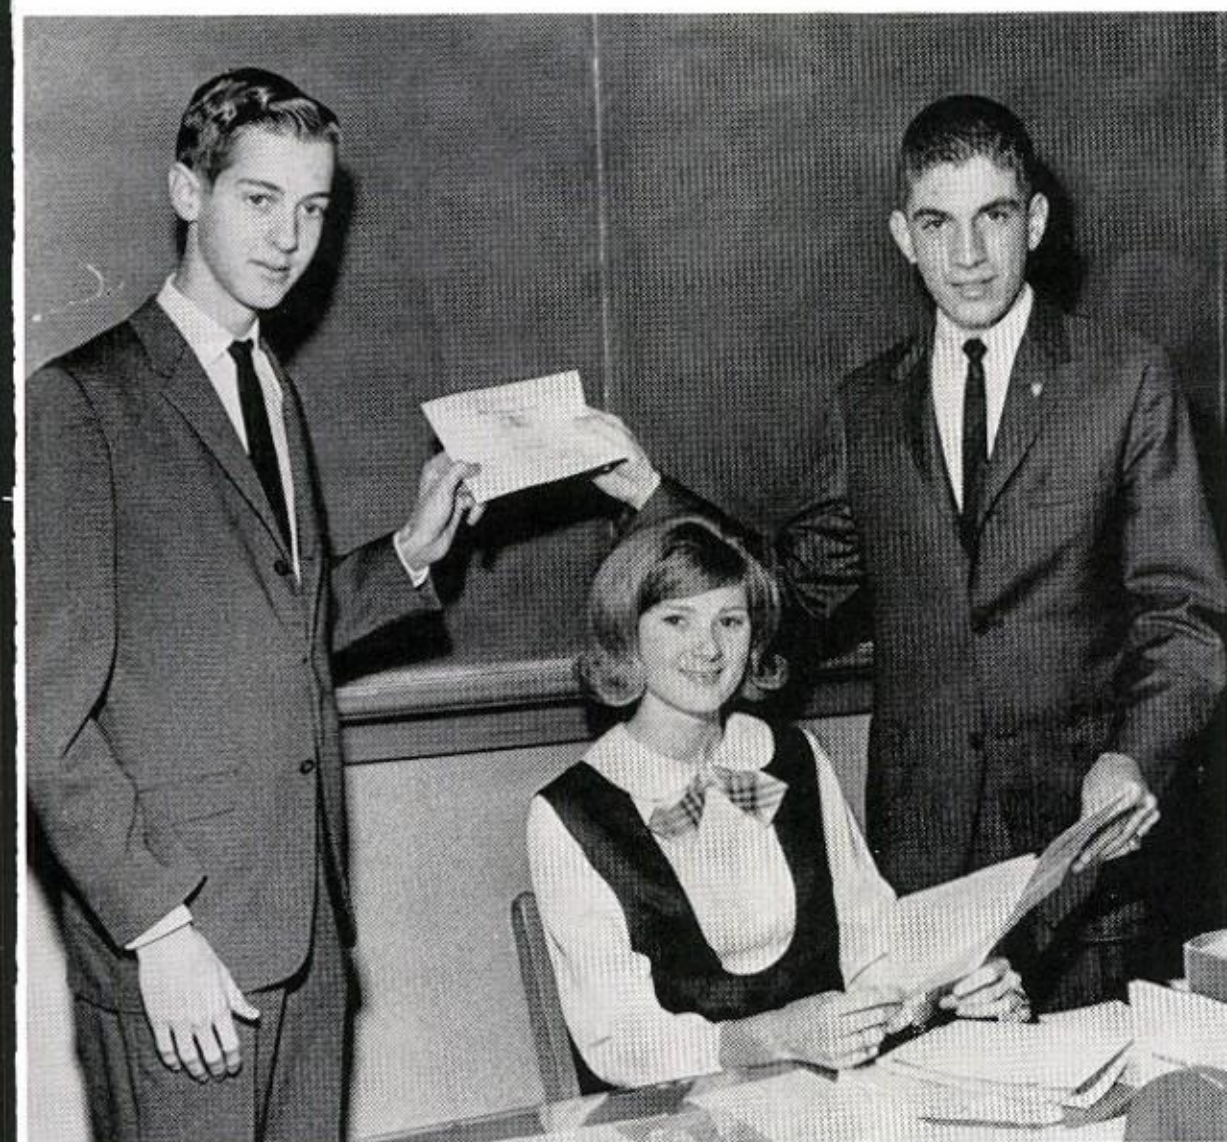

Winners of the Americanism Essay Contest sponsored by the DAR were Bill Hubbard, Nancy Flodine, and Ralph Hull.

Music, Journalism, and Science

Members of the All-City Orchestra, conducted by Harry Lantz, were Debbie Greene, Suzy Demme, Fred Meeks, Randy Spears, Wayland Pickard, Cindy Roberts, and Don Barron.

Bruce Hill and Editors Jimmy Kalpaxis and Patty Burnett showed outstanding journalistic ability in the Lancer. It was awarded the rating of number one high school paper in Texas by the Texas High School Press Association.

Dennis Schneringer's honors were many. He placed fourth in the city on the American Chemical Examination; received 800's on College Achievements in English, Advanced Math, and Chemistry; and won the Regional Math Contest.

Clubs

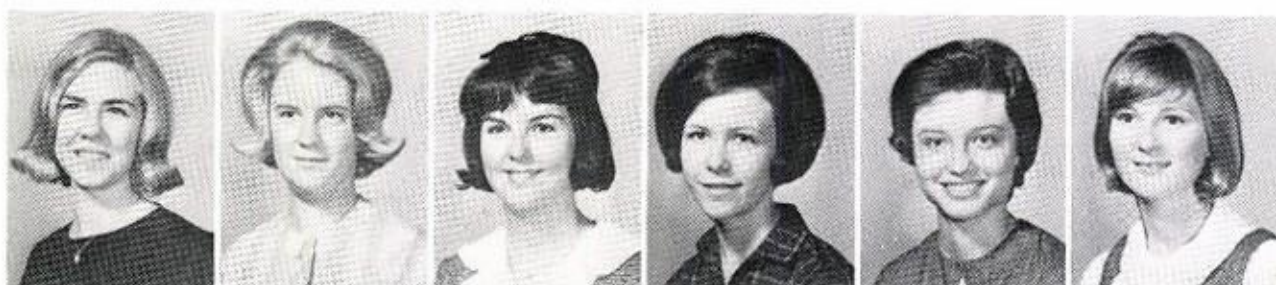

All of the many honorary, service, and social clubs at Lamar give students a chance for activity in areas which interest them and for an education broader than that learned in the classroom. They offer a feeling of companionship and achievement through hard work, and by membership in a club the student benefits himself as well as his school.

in Action

As general congress of Lamar, the Student Council is composed of a representative from each sophomore, junior, and senior homeroom. Its democratic system allows the representatives equal voice in all matters.

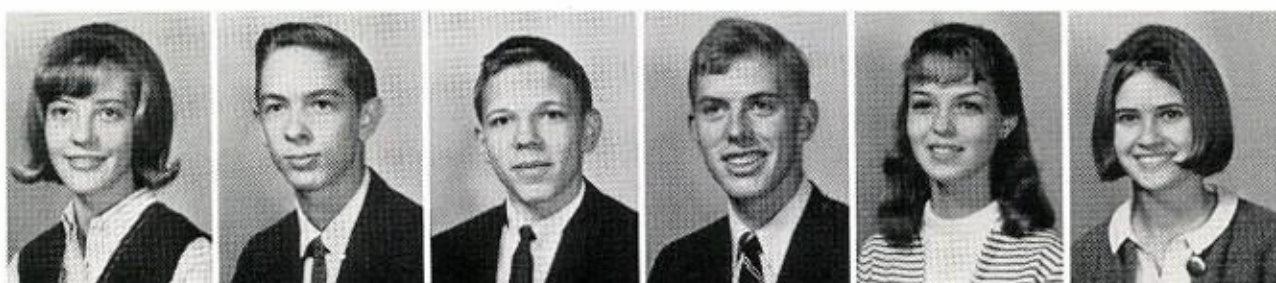

The council operates on a committee system much like that of the state and the nation, members of the committees being appointed by the president. The election committee supervises the election of class officers and favorites, and the directory committee gathers information for the school directory.

Among its many activities, the Student Council aids the library's "Book Week" campaign, supervises a campus cleanup, helps to sell the student directory, aids the Orenda in sales and distribution, and in general promotes the welfare of the school.

Members of the Honor Society--Bill Hamill, Melinda Morris, Gay Veltmann, and Jim Gilley--try to sneak by hall patrolman Charlene Tomfohrde.

The purpose of the National Honor Society is to encourage high standards of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Membership, in accordance with these high standards, is limited to five per cent of the high juniors, low seniors, and high seniors who have a grade average of 4.2 or better with no more than two G's in conduct and a certain number of service and honor points. An impressive installation service is held each spring, symbolizing the honor associated with being a member of the Society.

Membership in Arrowhead, the Senior Honor Society, is the highest honor which may be attained by a Lamar student. Arrowhead is composed of the seniors with highest academic standing and excellent conduct, a standard which must be maintained throughout membership.

Arrowhead members are conspicuous in their willingness to serve Lamar. They contribute to the improvement of school facilities through profits made by selling bookcovers and automobile stickers.

Each year at Commencement a silver cup is presented to the most outstanding member of Arrowhead. In 1964 Dan Hedges received the Arrowhead award.

A Year-Long Task

After the exhausting rush of planning layouts, cropping pictures, and meeting deadlines, the Orenda staff sends the final pages of the yearbook to press in March. The weary assistants, editors, typist, and editor-in-chief admit that it was a complex job, but they all look forward to enjoying a permanent record of the year's activities. The business editor and assistants have made order out of the confusion of hundreds of accounts and the thousands of dollars which go into publishing the Orenda. The entire staff hopes that its work will result in a book which will bring high ratings from the critical services of leading universities and will receive enthusiastic acceptance from the Lamar student body. Sponsors are Mrs. Iris Loep in the editorial department and Miss Wynona Victory in the business department.

Typist Barbara Fodell tries to concentrate in spite of comments from Faculty Editor, Tom McGuire.

Clare Smith and Mary Jane Albrecht sort envelopes for Orenda subscriptions.

Hal Cunningham, Joe Stubbs, Alice Wightman and Kenzie Gancha seem to have dropped their profits.

"... But I thought Dusty Marshall went to Bellaire!" says astonished Senior Class Editor, Melinda Morris, to Assistant, Anne Jones.

Editor Sarah Mendell always wore a smile, despite all the long, hard hours spent making this year's yearbook a success.

Frantically working at Roulande Studio, Susan Jewell and Karen Malick rush to get the social club members' individual pictures scheduled.

"But we didn't think our deadlines were for two months!" exclaim surprised Mark Much and Markle Smith.

A Deadline Must Be Met

Lancer Editor, Jimmy Kalpaxis, and Associate Editor, Pat Burnett, look over past Lancers and recall the long hours required to publish each one.

Jeri Cole writes assignments for the Lancer's eager journalists.

"Every dollar is precious," say Sarah Campbell, Richard Powell, Robbie Moore, Sharon Gree, Diane Campbell.

Sports Editor, Jeff Young, amuses the other members of the sports staff—Jimmy Disch, Dusty Marshall and Albert Szkody.

Excellence in Journalism

At the Quill and Scroll banquet Sarah Mendell, Patty Burnett, and Jimmy Kalpaxis prepare to give speeches.

In 1946, the W. J. Moyes Chapter of Quill and Scroll, international society for high school journalists, was established at Lamar by consent of the executive council of the association. Each year, old members and advisors meet at an honorary banquet to recognize the outstanding new journalists of the Orenda, Review, and Lancer staffs. These students must be at least juniors, must have a 4.0 average, and must have the recommendation of their advisor.

Since its beginning in 1947, Lamar's National Forensic League has brought honor to the school, challenge to the members, and worries to its sponsor. Through the club, members learn important facts about world events, while enjoying inter-school competition. The members especially look forward to the out-of-town tournaments; some members have entered tournaments from New Orleans to Pittsburgh. The NFL presents programs for classes, PTA meetings, Rotary Club meetings, and other civic organizations. The club also participates in Student Congresses to learn the machinery of the National Legislature. The club's goal each year is to attend the National NFL Tournament.

An Early Start

Kachina is the club for sophomores interested in drama. Each Wednesday the club holds a meeting to help in backstage work on the productions of the drama department. Kachina members are important to these productions, for they publicize them, support them, and sell tickets to them. On Saturday mornings the group helps with the upkeep of the drama building. The main purpose of this of this club is to give all sophomores a chance to serve Lamar through the drama department.

"Act well thy part; for there all the honor lies."

The aim of the National Thespian Society is to create an active interest in high school theatre, to develop appreciation for it, and to improve its quality. Students earn their membership into troupe 153 through hard work both on stage and behind the scenes.

Last summer Lamar Thespians presented John Logan's "Of Poems, Youth, and Spring" at the National Thespian Conference held at the University of Indiana. The conference is held every four years, and Lamar was one of eight high schools from all over the United States invited to present a one-act play.

During all Lamar productions students wearing dark-blue work suits with "Denney's Demons" written in bright red letters on the backs are seen operating lights, curtains, and props. These are National Thespian members who have earned their title through leadership in technical and backstage work on Lamar's dramatic presentations.

Open only to third-and fourth-year French students having an A average in French and a B average in their other subjects, La Societe Honoraire de Francais has completed its first full year of existence at Lamar.

The activities which the club originated this year will probably become traditions in its future life. The sale of French pastries during the winter months, the variety show on French Night, the annual banquet, and the interesting program meetings with French speakers were a few of these activities.

La Cinquantaine is designed for students interested in learning about France and French customs. A student need not take French to be a member.

This year club members visited the art museum, saw slides and films of France, and listened to students and teachers speak about France. Again, members voted to donate subscriptions to Paris Match Magazine and Sélections to our library.

The annual banquet in the spring gave members an opportunity to enjoy French cuisine.

Divisa in Partes Tres

Founded in the spring of 1963 (by the six members of the fourth-year Latin class) the Latin Honor Society seeks to encourage the study of Latin and to experience some of the classics which are not read in the regular course of the semester. During the year the club hears speakers on any phase of the study of Latin or of Rome. In its brief history, the club has contributed to both the United Fund and the school library for the purpose of buying books of Latin literature and Roman history. The main project of this year was the presentation of a program of "Influences of the Roman Theatre on Shakespearean Drama."

The San Felipe Chapter of the Spanish National Honor Society is a relatively new organization on the Lamar campus. It stresses outstanding scholastic achievement and a genuine interest in the Spanish language. An A average in Spanish is necessary for membership. Activities this year included two formal inductions for new members and a Latin-American dinner.

One of the most unique organizations in Lamar is the Lamar Astronomy Club. It is the only high school astronomy club in the southwestern United States. It has Houston's only privately owned observatory, six miles north of Addicks. The observatory was constructed in the summer of 1959 by members, with building materials which had been donated. The club owns two fine telescopes, which are used visually and photographically for observations of stellar, planetary, and cometary phenomena. The club is open to all students of Lamar interested in astronomy, astrophotography, and satellite observation.

Lamar's Texas History Club is inspired by the colorful history of the Lone Star State. Its purpose is to develop interest in Texas history through discussion, travel, and individual study.

This year the club made field trips to San Jacinto Monument and San Antonio. Members were hosts at the historic Noble House, Cherry House, and Cottage. Speakers visited meetings, and individuals did research and writing. The club sent representatives to the Texas State Historical Association meeting and gave a history award at the end of the year.

Strength Through Faith

Every Tuesday morning at 7:45, the Christian Student Union meets in the Lamar Auditorium. Many prominent citizens—athletes, students, businessmen, and professional men—present Christian principles and ideals in the hope of influencing students in their home and school activities. The club also sponsors a Bible study on Tuesday nights and at Christmas donates food and clothing to needy families. Membership is open to all students who wish to attend.

An international service organization for high school-age boys, the Key Club is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. The Lamar chapter, organized in 1961, is sponsored by the Western Houston Kiwanis Club. A B average, an E in conduct, and a well-rounded service are the requirements for admission. This year the club, whose motto is "We build," has conducted a lightbulb sale to raise money and sponsored a Christmas party for underprivileged children. The care and transportation of Big Red are the traditional responsibilities of the Key Club.

Founded three years ago, the Lamar Interact Club is sponsored by the River Oaks Rotary Club. Its purpose is service to school and community, and in accordance with this the club has cleaned up the school trophy case, co-sponsored "Toys for Tots" with the Key Club, and collected clothing for the residents of San Felipe Courts. The main aim of the club is teaching young men about the business world and how to live in it.

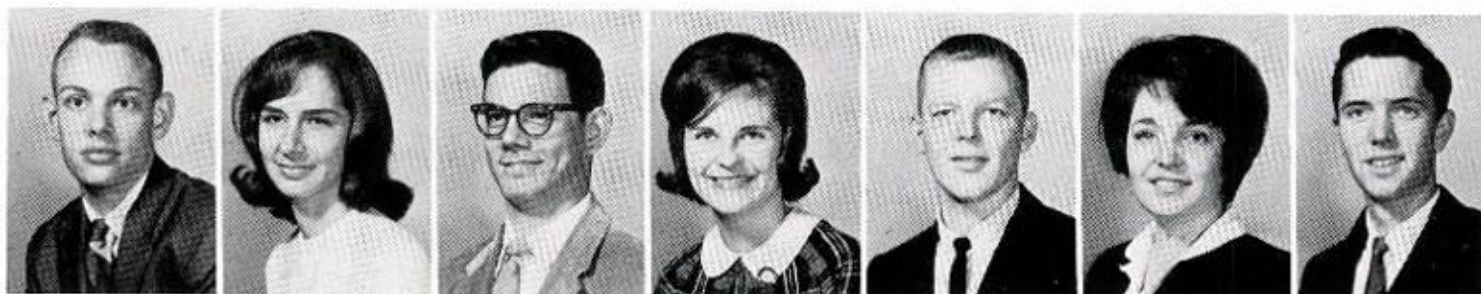

Training for the Future

Distributive Education is a program of instruction in distribution and marketing. Its major objectives are to place persons in useful distributive occupations and to prepare them for continuing development in their professions. These objectives are achieved through local, state-wide, and federally supported vocational training programs; college and university schools of business; and activities of business firms and associations. The goals of D.E. are to provide the kind and amount of instruction to meet the vocational needs of individuals engaged in distribution and marketing, to aid in the improvement of the techniques of distribution, and to develop an understanding by those persons engaged in distribution of the responsibilities they must shoulder in maintaining a prosperous, free-enterprise economy.

Future Teachers of America seeks to enable its members to study basic qualities, aptitudes, and traits of teaching; to acquire an understanding of the history, development, purposes, and objectives of our public schools; to secure information on opportunities in education; to aid in self-evaluation and to participate in prevocational activities which are both exploratory and developmental.

Future Teachers of America is new to Lamar this year, under the direction of Mrs. Ann Storey. Its planned project for the year is a tutoring service run by Future Teachers of America with the aid of the Student Council and the National Honor Society. The club also plans to help host the State Convention of Future Teachers of America in Houston in the spring.

The Well-Read People

Diane Willard, Joan Foster, Ann Cody, and Beverly Gantt are browsing through magazines in the library.

Lamar's Library Club was organized in 1939. One of its first projects was publishing the Student Directory, which the Student Council now sponsors.

In 1952, the name was changed from the Library Club to Wowapi, which means Painted Book. Wowapi became a member of the Teen-Age Library Association in 1951-1953 and again in 1963. It is now affiliated with this organization.

The Library Club assists in setting up the library for National Book Week and is responsible for the library's two bulletin boards. The officers serve as hostesses during Open House. Wowapi made a field trip to Rice University to see the IBM system of checking out books and had book reviews at the spring meetings. The annual banquet was held in May.

The Lamar Band, directed by Taylor E. Purdy from North Texas State, has shown again its versatility in marching and concert performances. This year it has enlarged its reputation as one of the most outstanding bands in Southeast Texas.

In the fall, marching is the foremost interest of the Redskin Band. This fall members marched at all the football games and added much to the school spirit at each pep rally. As a result of all the hard work, the band performed one of the most versatile shows at the Interscholastic League Marching Contest. Also, they greeted such football teams as the University of Texas and the University of Mississippi at the Houston International Airport.

During the spring the band is concerned primarily with concert work. Preparing for such events as Interscholastic League Concert and Sightreading Contest, All-State tryouts, Solo and Ensemble Contest, and the yearly musical took up a great part of the time; however, the spring is also a time for parades and trips. The band was invited to participate in the Governor's Inauguration Parade in Austin, Texas.

Officers from the various N.D.C.C. companies and the staff members make up the N.D.C.C. Officers' Club. The club provides an opportunity for the officers to discuss vital issues confronting them. Battalion many valuable and useful services. The highlight of the year is the Military Ball during the spring semester.

Mirabeau was organized for the purpose of promoting good citizenship and friendliness, for improving physical surroundings of the school, and for improving the spirit of Lamar.

Mirabeau girls start early in the year by welcoming low sophomores to the school during orientation. This year a welcoming committee was formed to continue making new students feel at home.

During the Yuletide season, Mirabeau gives baskets of food to needy families and throws a Christmas party for underprivileged children at Ben Milam School.

As the audience hissed, booed, clapped and cheered, the club presented its Mirabeau Melodrama, "Egad, What a Cad!" In the spring the club invited all students to its annual Orenda-signing party.

A Jeri Armstrong-Diane Daniels Memorial Award is presented to the most outstanding girl graduate in Mirabeau, and the Mirabeau Scholarship of one hundred dollars is presented to the most outstanding and deserving non-member graduate.

New Mooks build a pyramid during Mirabeau initiation.

Niwauna was organized to give "Charity where charity is needed and to co-operate fully in any project for the interest of Lamar." Niwauna girls gave food to a needy family at Thanksgiving and entertained underprivileged children at Dow Elementary School with a party and presents at Christmas.

This year Niwauna girls again sold the small Niwauna mums not only for the weekly football games, but also for Hero Mum Week and Teachers' Mum Week. The highlight of the fall semester was the annual formal dance in November. In the spring, Niwauna again sold its famous singing Valentines.

To promote its usefulness to Lamar, Niwauna donates all its remaining profits at the end of the year to some worth-while school project.

Jeri Cole, Anne Janes, Jaia Barrett, Harriet McCleary and Vanda Greenwood are working on the basketball mural.

Work for a Palamar member begins as early as the first week of June, when the girls meet to design and write slogans for the colorful red and blue pep ribbons. The members meet again in July and August to make posters and plan for the fall semester. The club starts the school year with the annual back-to-school party given by the officers for the members.

Through autumn months the club members show their loyalty to school and club through the sale of slogan slips (the club's greatest source of income), roster ribbons, pennants, and football dolls. The club contributes to the United Fund, Book Week, and the basketball team, and this year sponsored the Parent-Teachers Association's membership drive.

"To greater loyalty . . .," a phrase from the Tawasi pledge, shows a quality in each Tawasi girl—loyalty not only to her school, but to her community.

Early in the school year, Tawasi members distributed school maps to the new sophomores. Football season was busy because Tawasi not only provided the giant football banner, but this year sponsored the Reagan game.

This year's charity project was a weekly visit to the Houston Christian Home for the Aged, where the girls visited and helped care for patients. Each spring the Tawasi girls look forward to the annual banquet, formal dance, and Mother-Daughter Tea.

The Tawasi Cup is awarded annually to one outstanding junior boy on the basis of scholastic ability and extracurricular activities.

A Party on Friday

"Pens, Pennants,"—this is a popular trademark of the Wichaka-Chums. The ideals which the club stands for include charity, hospitality, usefulness, merit, and scholarship, and these are summed up in the club's purpose—"to be true."

During the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons the club sponsored various charity projects and made donations to the school. Annually, Wichaka presents to the most representative senior boy the David Fenwick White Memorial Cup.

Highlighting the social activities was the club's annual formal dance in April. Other activities were the Style Show, the Mother-Daughter Tea, and the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Pow Wow has always been an active social, service club. Pow Wow originated the Homecoming hop and May Fete dance.

Pow Wow members contribute to the library, athletic teams, the band, Red Cross, the United Fund, and underprivileged families. The club supported the Bellaire game with banners and posters. Pow Wow members are renowned party givers, and any dance they have is a certain success. So it was with the "Mistletoe Dance," given before the holidays. Encouraging student developments, Pow Wow each year presents the K. Lamar Camp Memorial Award to the senior boy showing excellence in character, scholarship, and athletics.

Sweetheart Kathy Hopkins better watch out while she helps Jimmy Kalpaxis, Jeff Suttles and Ward Adkins put up mistletoe for Pow Wow's Mistletoe Dance.

Founded in 1942, the Ramal Club is dedicated to three purposes: promotion of school spirit in the student body, creation of a strong feeling of fellowship among its members, and maintenance of high academic standings. Ramal is continually working for these goals throughout the year. Ramal supports the athletic program both directly and indirectly. It holds the Ramal Relays in the spring for boys interested in track who have not participated in our track program; Ramal boys also issue reminders to the student body at different times during the football season to urge attendance at the games. Fellowship in the club is advanced through the members' working for school spirit and through the many social affairs for the members during the year. High academic standards are furthered by the presentation of the Ramal Cup to the outstanding junior girl at Lamar. Ramal's other services include contributions to the United Fund and to the library.

From the New York World's Fair to Houston, Texas come compliments to the lovely Choralettes. This year the Choralettes took a trip to the "Cherry Blossom Festival" in Washington, D. C., and a side trip to Annapolis.

The Choralettes sponsored the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance in November, with a theme of "Sadie goes to Kiddieland." Everyone enjoyed the party and the lollipops!

Local engagements included performances at the Trade Fair, Music Hall, River Oaks Country Club, Houston Country Club, Lakeside Country Club, the Humble Building, Rotary Club, Petroleum Club, and the International Cotton Conference.

Jill Echols, Bonnie Montgomery, Eli Holmes, and Mary Jane Albrecht all seem to think Rick Smith is "their" date.

Lamar's Mixed Chorus has presented a variety of programs during the 1964-65 year. Highlight of the fall semester was the seven-day trip to Washington, D.C., December 18-24, where, upon official proclamation of Governor John Connally, the Lamar Mixed Chorus represented the state of Texas in the Pageant of Peace at the Senate Rotunda. There they were acclaimed the finest group to appear in ten years of programing. At Alexandria, Virginia, City Hall, they were presented a scroll by the Mayor and a reproduction of the Fairfax County Charter for the school. Other appearances were at Christ Church, Alexandria (George Washington's church), and at Foundry Methodist Church. Chorus members were honored guests at a reception sponsored by the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce in Gadsby's Tavern, where Washington last reviewed the troupes; at a trim-a-tree party at Tulip-Hills-on-the Potomac (home of the program coordinator of the Pageant); for even-song at the Washington Cathedral; and for a private showing of the White House. Even the weather welcomed the chorus with a beautiful snowfall, making winter sports a reality.

Athletics is an important phase of Lamar because every student, either through varsity teams, Cherokee tournaments, or physical education classes, participates in sports. Sports develop physical fitness and a feeling of being part of the team. Most of all, they create a loyal spirit in the school.

Preseason predictions did not show Lamar brightly in the spotlight against tough district competition, but the Redskins had some other ideas. In the opening battle with Milby the defensive unit of the Buffs held the Lamar attack back to squeak out a 12-7 victory. With fire and determination, therefore, the Mighty Tribe traveled to Galveston to ice down the Tors 17-8. When the Rams of Waltrip pitted themselves against our Indians, the Redskins punched across two last-half touchdowns, held the Rams to only four last-half first downs, and came away with a 13-12 upset victory. The smiles of Lady Luck helped the tribe bounce Lee, 14-7, to many the sweetest victory of the year. Against Reagan, Lamar got a key break in the fourth period, and the Redskins knew just what to do with it. The try for the extra two points failed, and Reagan got past us 7-6. Austin used a 101-yard opening-kickoff touchdown return to nip the hard-fighting tribe 13-7. The Jones Falcon capitalized on a blocked kick and a recovered fumble in the first period, and went on to defeat the Indians 32-16. In a 14-9 victory over Westbury, the Redskins were predicted underdogs, but being alert and playing the break brought home another win. In the annual mud-bath due between Lamar and Bellaire, the Indians lost 12-7, but not without a valiant try to score in the last fifty-nine seconds on a recovered on-side kick. In the final game Lamar cashed in on a break and made it pay off for a 7-6 no over San Jacinto.

Coach Duke Lane's improving band of cagers were plagued by lack of height again this year. To combat the soaring competition, the Indians developed a precise and intricate method of playing the ball. Pre-district games gave the Redskins the opportunity to overcome their faults and win a few trophies doing it. After losing to Spring Branch in the first round, the Tribe walked away from the Houston Jaycee Tournament with the consolation trophy. Trips to the Corpus and Brazosport Tournaments yielded runner-up consolation trophies. The Skins traveled to Austin to beat highly rated Stephen F. Austin of Austin, but lost to McCallum of Austin on the same trip.

Finally the Indians met their state-ranked rivals, the Cardinals from Bellaire. The opening district game against Bellaire was hard fought and well played, but in both of our encounters with the Cards, their inside punch and fabulous run-and-shoot ability enabled them to down the Redskins. Ironically, the Westbury coach also complained about the lack of height, disregarding the fact that he had three six-four boys. An all-round team effort with good ball handling blasted the Mighty Tribe past the Rebels twice. In the first game, Big Red scored fifty-seven per cent of their field shots in the first half and had only four floor mistakes. The painful agony of defeat after our loss to Austin was frustrating to our Braves. In the second game everything went well. Everybody made his shots, but we lost by one point. Against the super-shooters of Jones Lamar fought hard, but they excelled where we lacked. The well-rounded team of Jones played every facet of the game well, defeating us twice. Over San Jacinto the Indians showed a clear superiority in all parts of the game. Good organization and playing the fast break brought home two enjoyable victories. We scored a high of 99 points the second game against San Jacinto, to end the season on a happy note.

This year, as in past years, Lamar is well represented on the cinder trails in this area. With Lamar's field men looming especially powerful and a good well-rounded squad out for track, the season appears bright for the team. Last fall the cross-country team won city and ran third in the state finals. These boys will certainly prove valuable in the distance races this spring. Under the direction of Coach Kirby Jett and Coach James Hart the team has already won the Bayshore Olympics and appears headed to carry on the winning tradition of Lamar track teams.

Recording the times is only one of the many jobs of managers Tim Timmons and Harry Hilburn.

This year's high jumpers are Bill Stewart, David Darnell, Tom Moore, Robert Fain, and Dick Elledge.

Play Ball

Coach Dale DeHart's Redskin baseball team appears headed for one of the brightest spots in the athletic program this year. The team includes seven returning lettermen. Jim Disch, Johnny Brock, Hugh Hamilton, and Corby Robertson were on the All-State American Legion team last year, and Corby made All-City. The excellent coaching of Mr. DeHart and the general basic soundness of the team will prove hard to beat.

Swinging Redskins

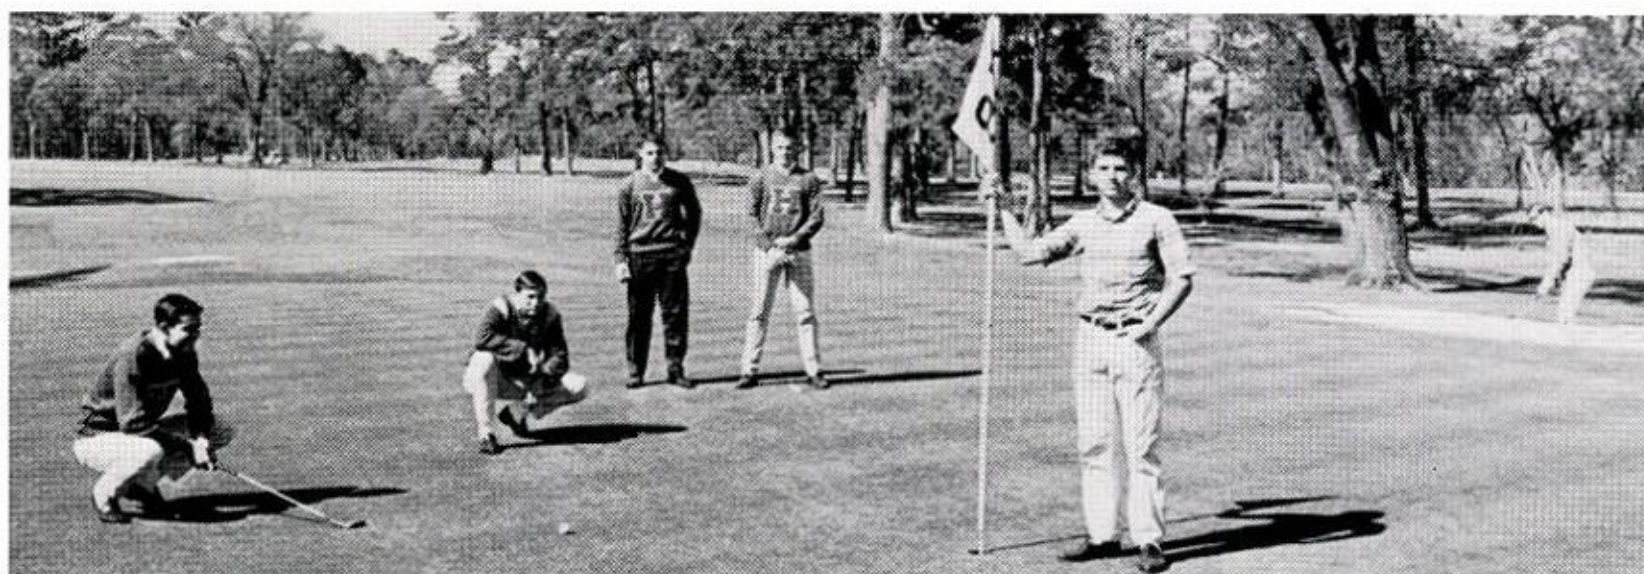

Nine returning lettermen, two of whom are two-year lettermen, make up the backbone of this year's powerful Lamar golf team. The leading golfers—Ed Fielder, Charles Berson, Jack Vaughan, and Jim Gilley—are shooting 75's and are leading the team to a District Championship. Lamar's competition comprises the toughest Region in the state, and a Regional victory would be hard won. It has been especially fortunate that the team has had the use of Mr. Lee Roy Garrett's driving range for practice. With the coaching of Mr. Don Longcope, the team is headed toward a successful year.

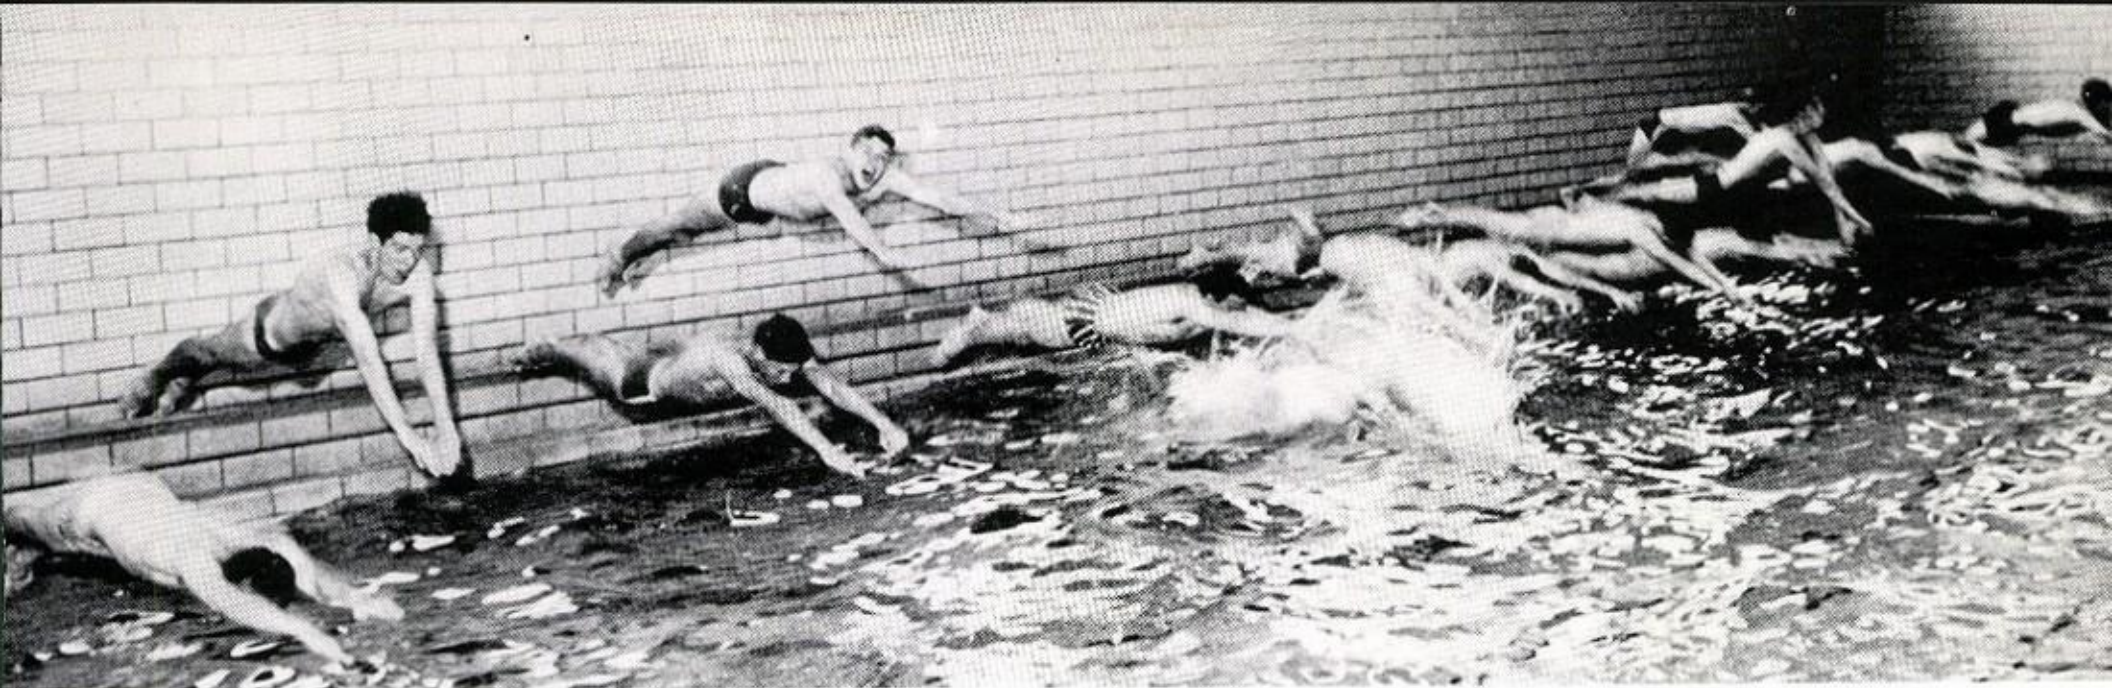

George Bland tees off.

Malcolm Pettigrew, George Bland, Paul Miller, Jim Powell, Lloyd Morris, and Sandy Sanguily watch Clark Alley demonstrate his form with his driver.

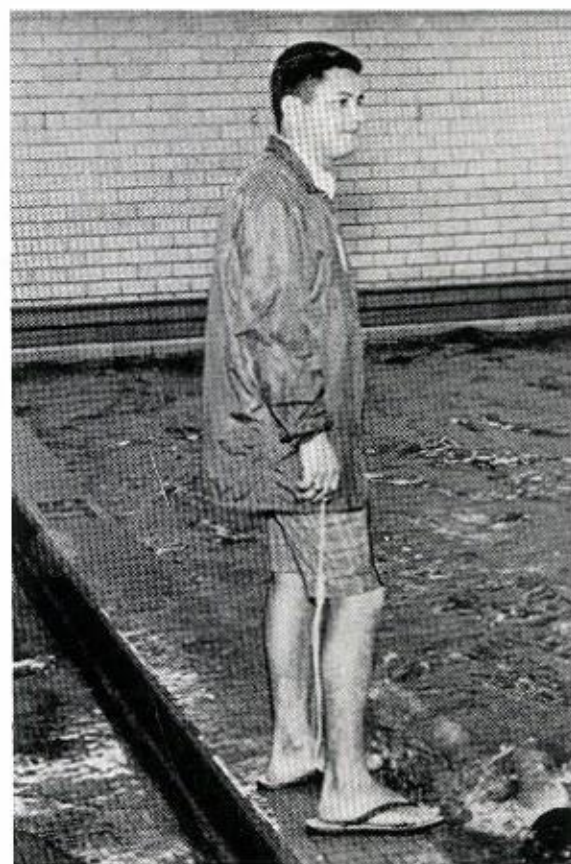

Ed Fielder pitches out of the trap as Jim Gilley lines up his putt and Steve Everts, Robert Echols, Jack Vaughan, and Charles Berson look on.

John Zaneck, Ben Rice, Linne Holmberg, William Marmaduke, John James and the rest of the team make a big splash at the start of a workout.

Wave Dwellers

It takes plenty of determination and hard work to have the best consistently, but the boys on the swimming team don't seem to mind because they consistently are the best. This year the team has six returning lettermen and the best two-hundred-yard free style relay in the city. Ben Rice, George Morse, Linné Holmberg, Mike Aillet, Larry Rodgers, and Paul Jennings are returning lettermen; and Mike Aillet, Larry Rodgers, Paul Jennings, and Bob Jones are on the relay team. The team is working hard to make their traditional good showing at the city meet. They have beaten Austin and Waltrip in dual meets and placed second at the Alamo Heights Invitational Swimming Meet.

Coach Joe Euresti times a relay.

Free Style Champs

This year's medley relay consists of George Morse, Jerry Deutsch, Richard Gollwitzer, and Linné Holmberg.

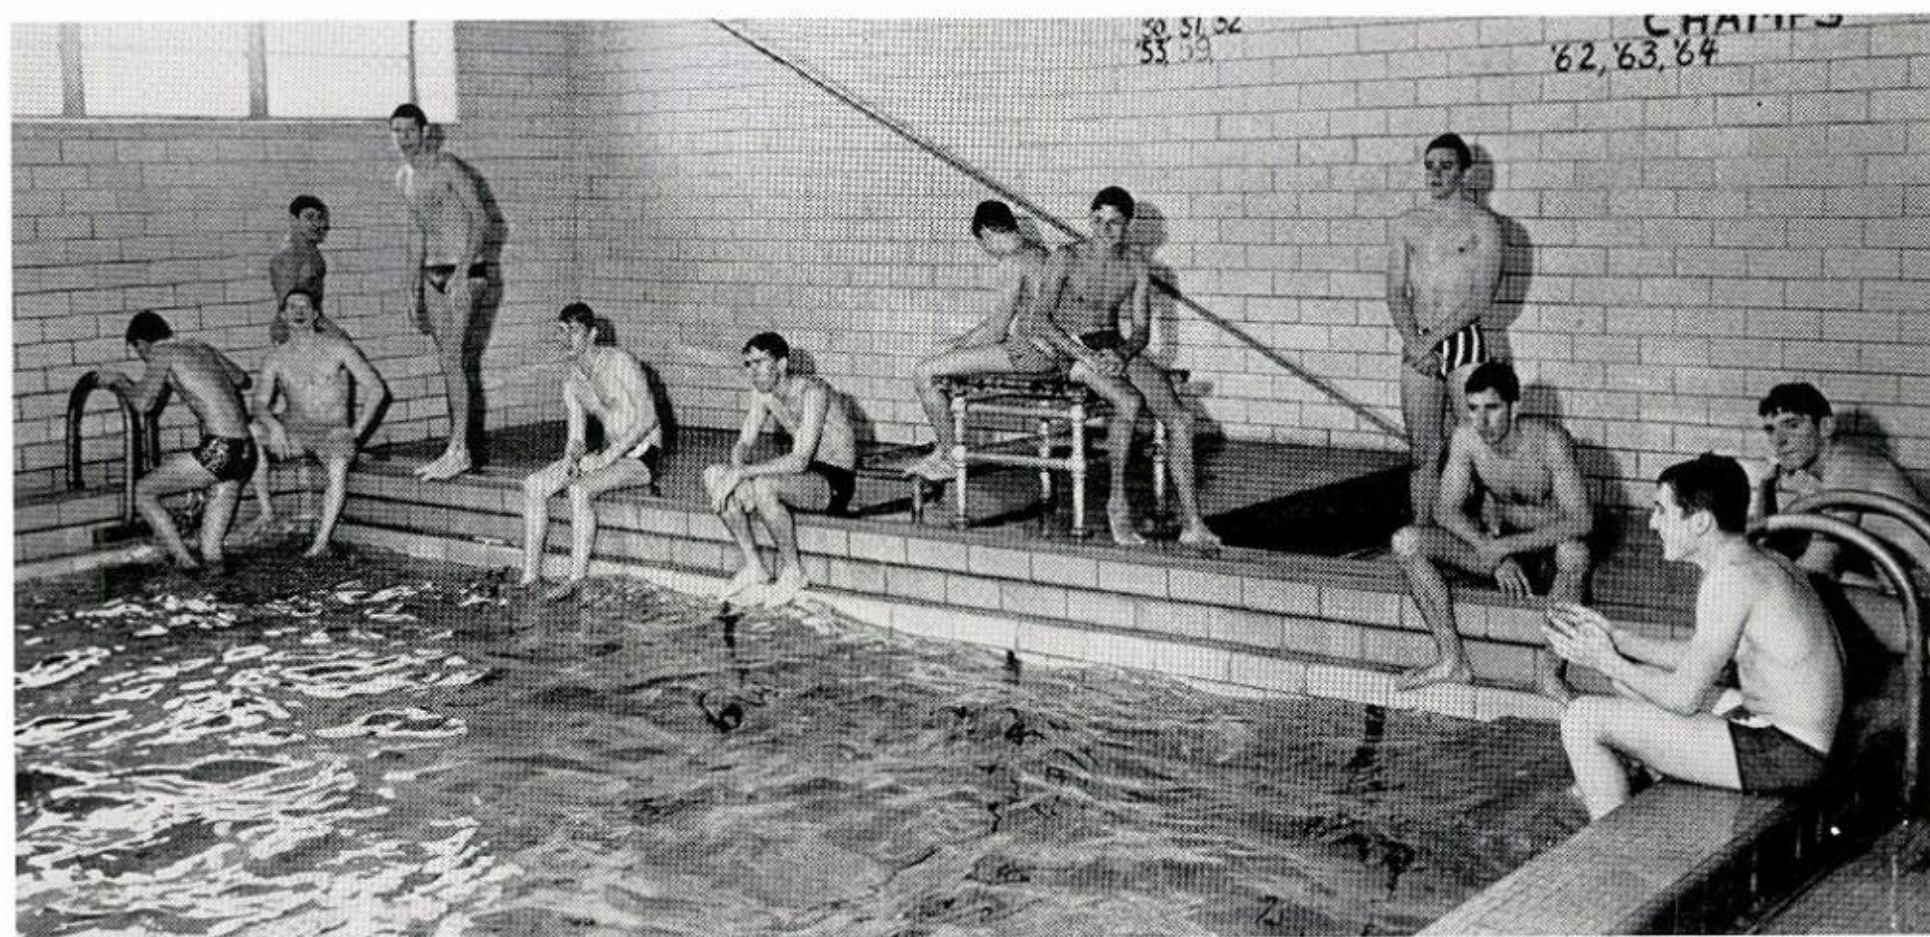

Bill Marmaduke, John James, and Bill Black provide the needed depth on the team.

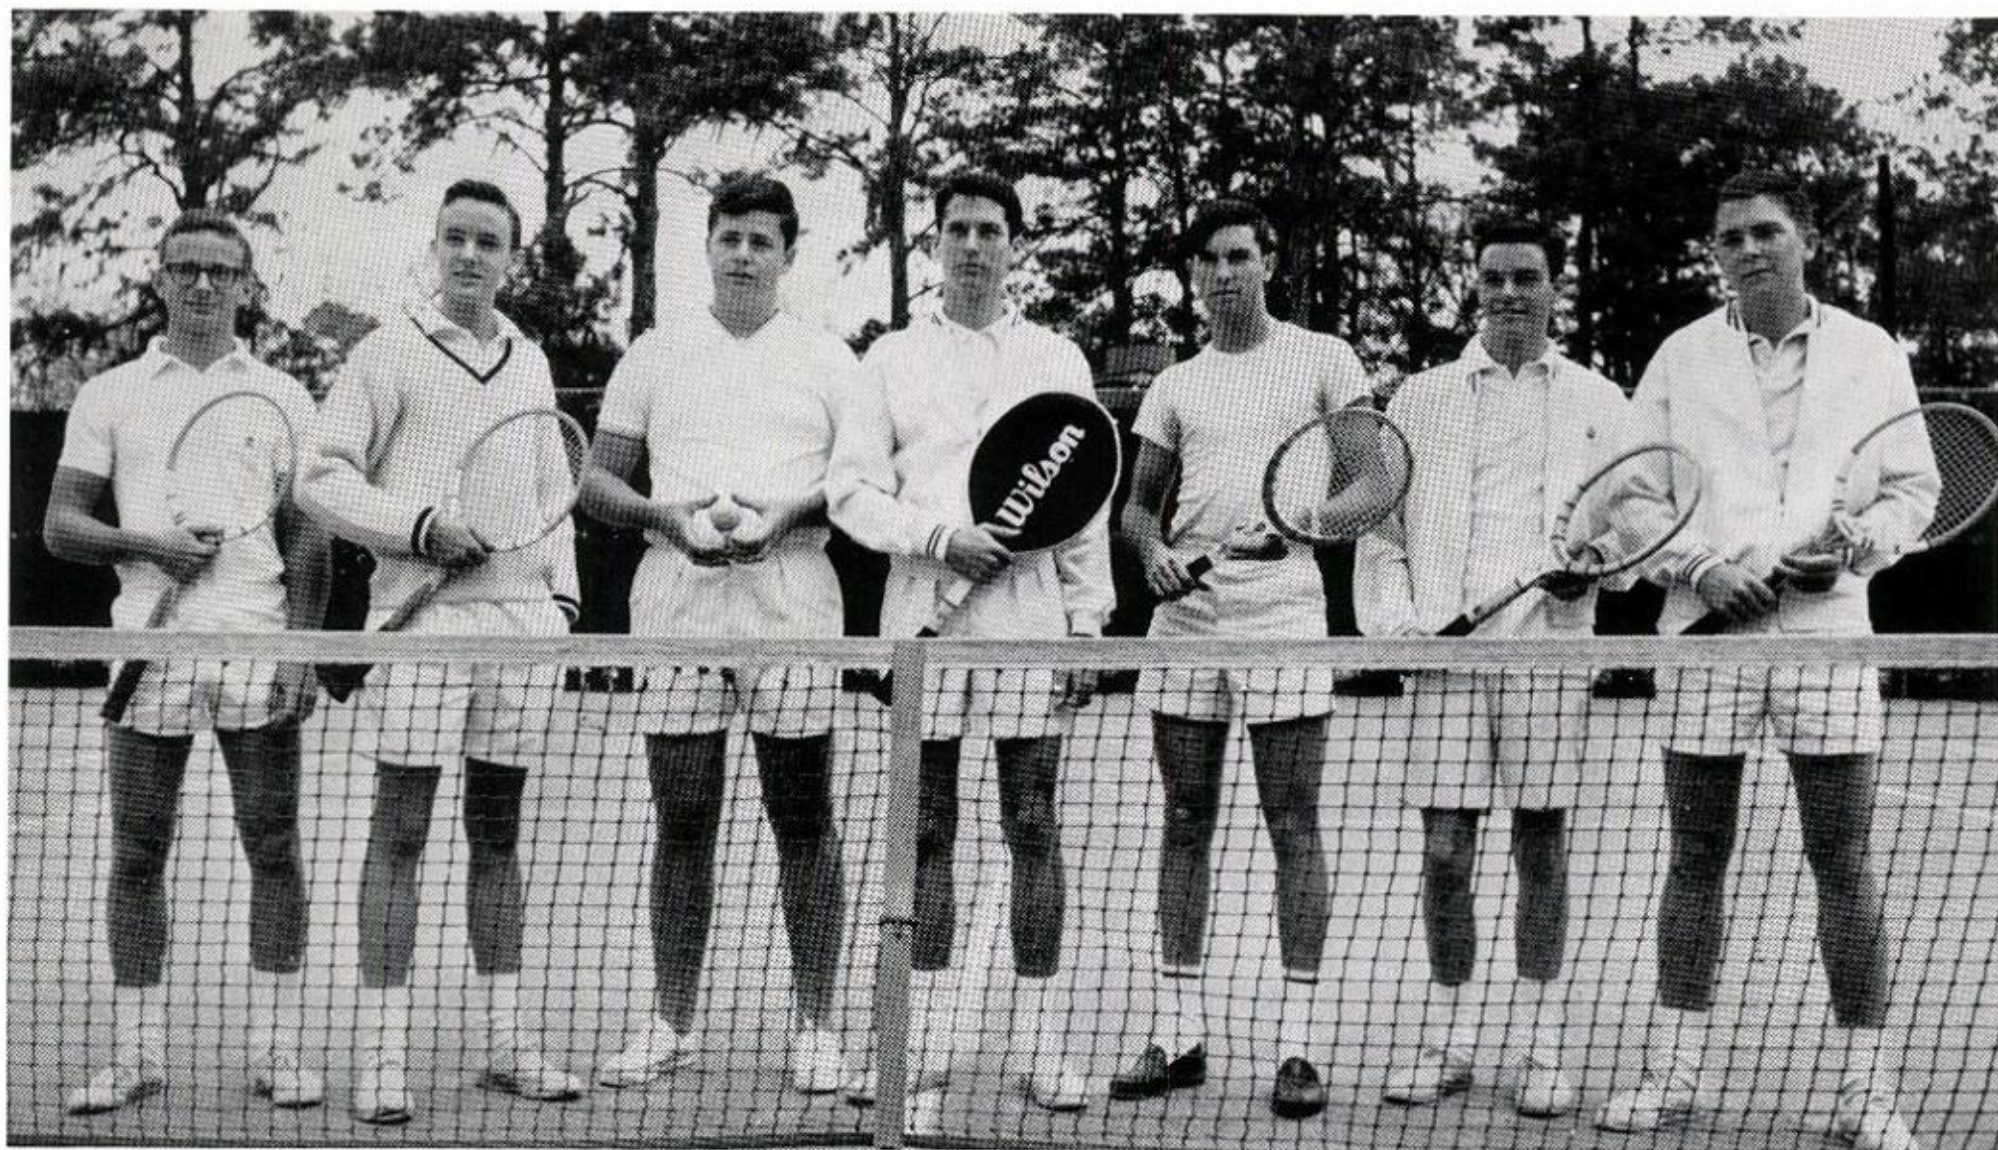

The city record-holding free style relay consists of Larry Rodgers, Bob Jones, Linné Holmberg, Paul Jennings, and (not pictured) Mike Aillet.

Boys on the tennis squad are Steve Redding, Tom Walsh, Bill Hartfield, Ron Doyle, Steve Jeffery, Ward Atkins, and Louis Braden.

Power on the Courts

Strong tennis teams have long been a tradition at Lamar. This year is no exception, as Coach Brad Gentry's group are probable city champs. The team shows plenty of depth, with three men back from last year's successful squad. Lamar will play in four major tournaments this year at Spring Branch, Galveston, Pasadena, and Baytown. The district tournament will be held on April 12-14.

Pins Fly

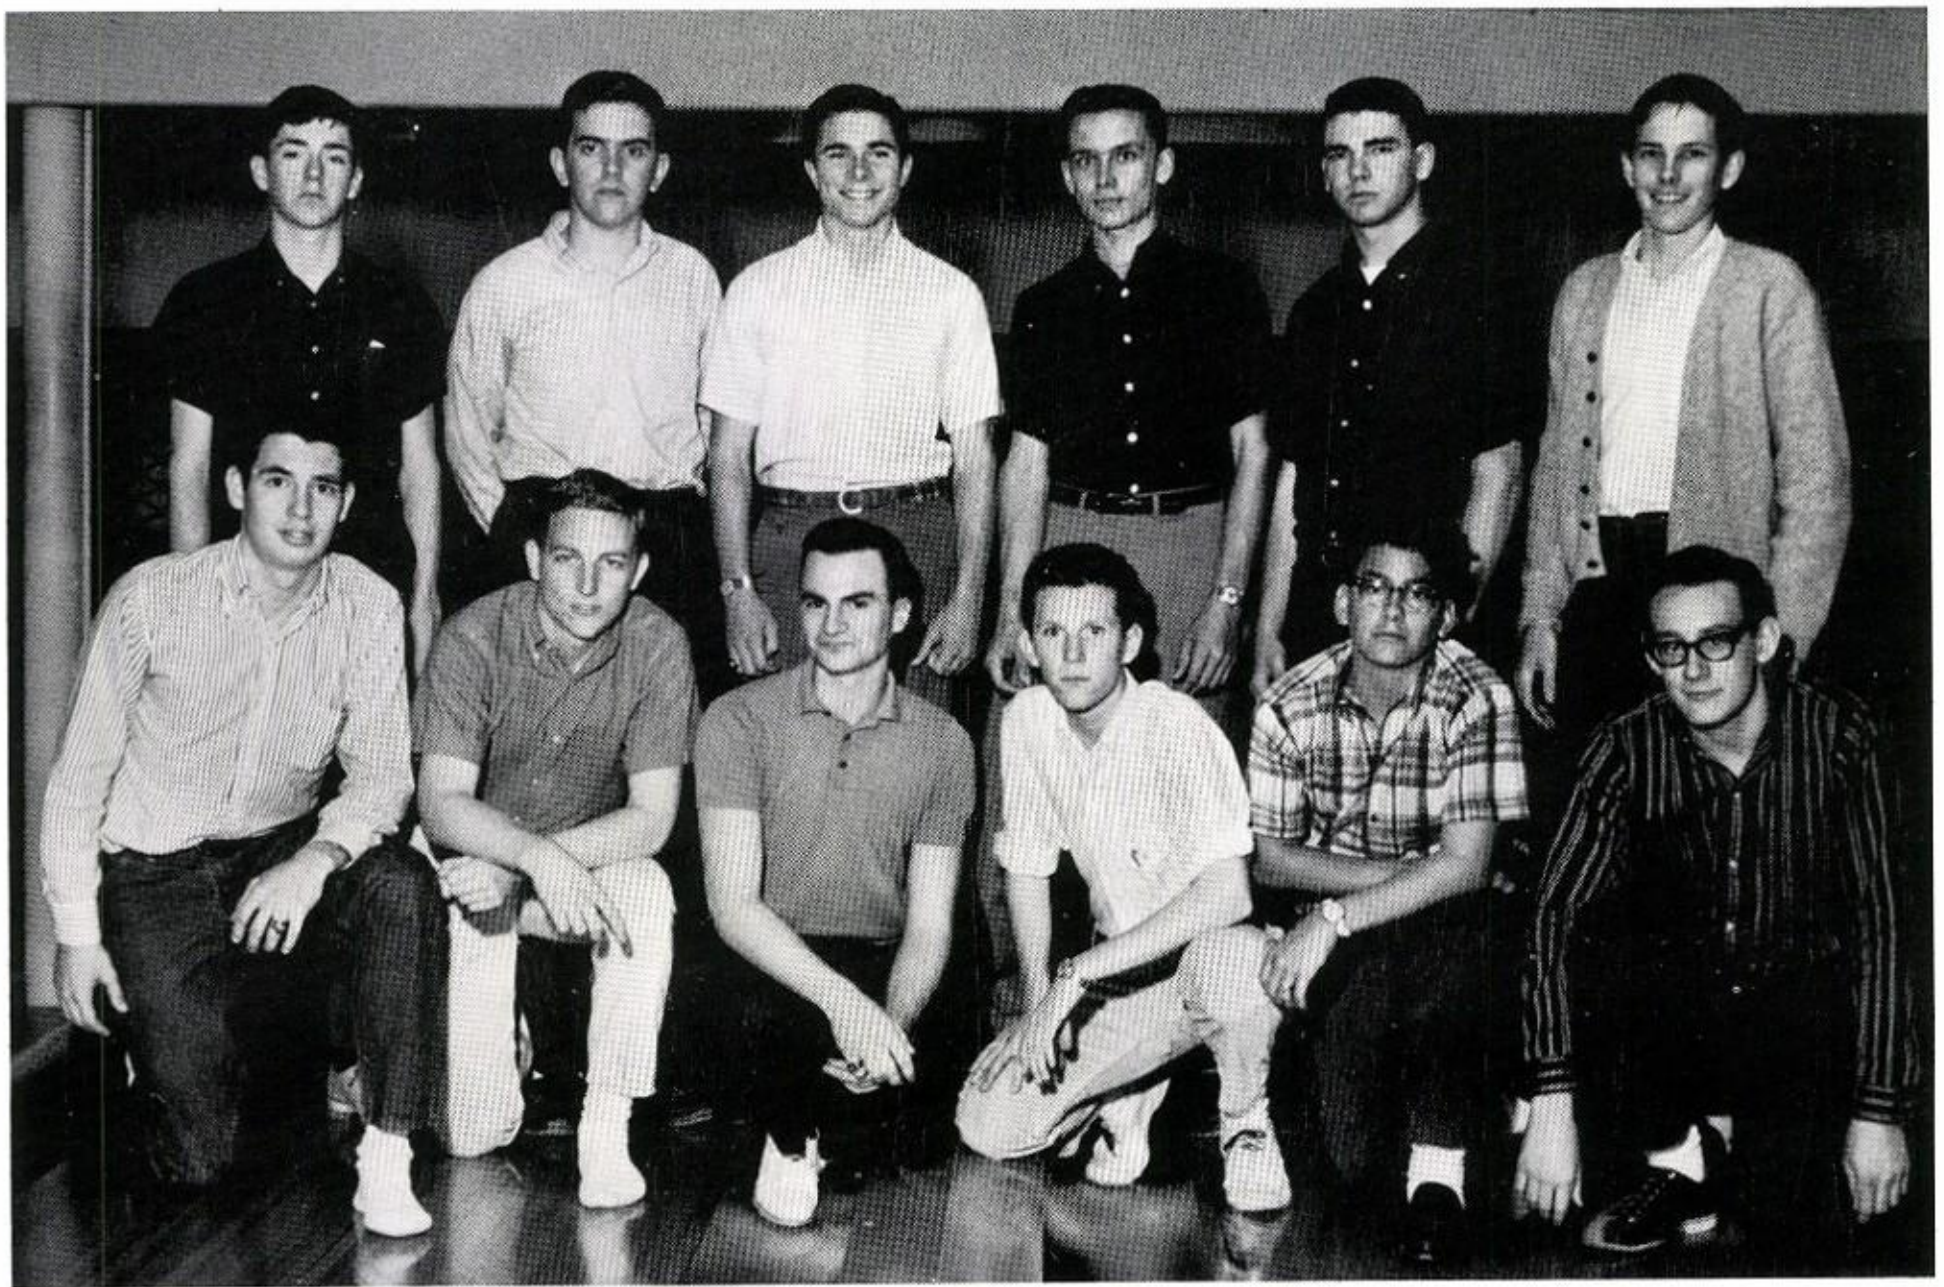

Boys on the Varsity bowling squad this year are Stuart Fayner, Leonard Standley, Jack Copeland, Clinton Davis, and (KNEELING) Robert Gilliland and Jim Wicoff.

Randy Legler and Rick Carpenter try for strikes as the team and Coach Louis Dee look on.

Winning most of their pre-season, non-district games, Coach Louis Dee's ever-powerful bowling team seems headed for another successful year. The team has consistently scored an average better than 170. The top bowlers—Ray Powell, Stuart Fayner, and Robert Gilliland—have plenty of support from an experienced team. In the city tournament in April Lamar should prove to be a strong contender for the City Championship.

Cherokee

Every girl automatically becomes a member of Cherokee when she enters Lamar. The girl's sports organization is one of the most active on campus, providing the opportunity to improve physical skills and to have a good time.

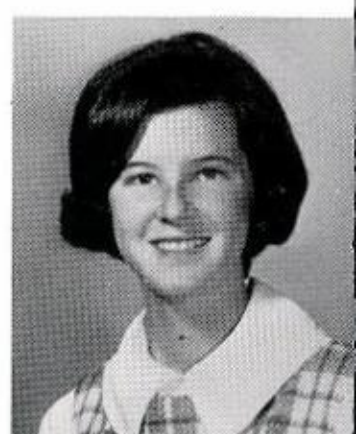

Leadership consists of the officers and twelve "heads," each in charge of tournaments in her particular sport. These girls, as well as team members, receive letters. Other honors include the Cherokee Rose, given to the girl entering five sports and bracelets given to three girls earning the most points. The club's highest award is the Ideal Girl Award.

Competition

Susan Barnes seems pretty confident by single-handedly taking on Karen Malick, Ruthie Miller, Carla Hull, and Joyce Crook.

Health

Margaret Moreland, exhibiting the basketball skills she picked up from Wilt "the Stilt" Chamberlain, steals the ball from Belle Prigge as on rushers Kathy Licce, Emmie Hitt, and Joan Little try to help.

Sophomores Diane Willard, Willeen McKee, and Beth Woolsey try their skill in a game of softball.

Rain or shine, gym classes still have to practice tennis. The gym floor is just as good as a court.

Karen Parks, Valerie Potter, Kaye Parks, Cynthia Smith, and Mary Usher agree that running track is healthful and sometimes rewarding, especially when the boys are running too.

Everybody

The Modern Dance Club is open to those girls who are interested in modern dance and who possess the skill and co-ordination required to participate. ROW ONE: Laura Overton, Chris Roberts, Candy Haralson, Tony Girard. ROW TWO: Carolyn Baer, Mary Lingdinger, Cyd Curbo, Nancy Fowler, Glen Beauchamp, Cindy Lawrence, Kathy Butler, Anabeth Goleman, Nancy Barnhill. ROW THREE: Janice Dewald, Susie Wood, Vivian Kleiderer, Jennifer John.

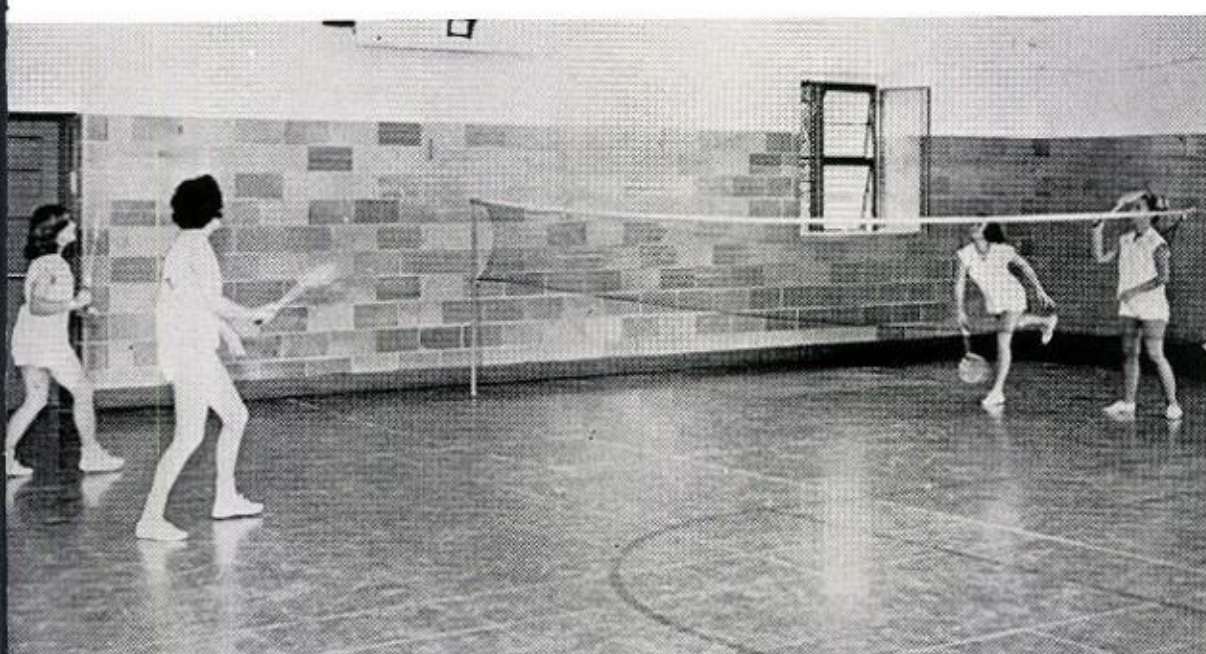

Responsibility

Mary Lu McNeill, Debby Thomason, Terry Graham and Beverly Gantt end a tedious school day with a "relaxing" game of soccer.

Mallory Taylor thinks it is really amusing that Terry Graham and Clare Smith seem so worried about Morven Edwards' table tennis technique.

Gail Ostin looks on as Cindy Lawrence's quicker-than-lightning shot forces Lane Parker and Mija Kenter to say, "Where is the birdie?"

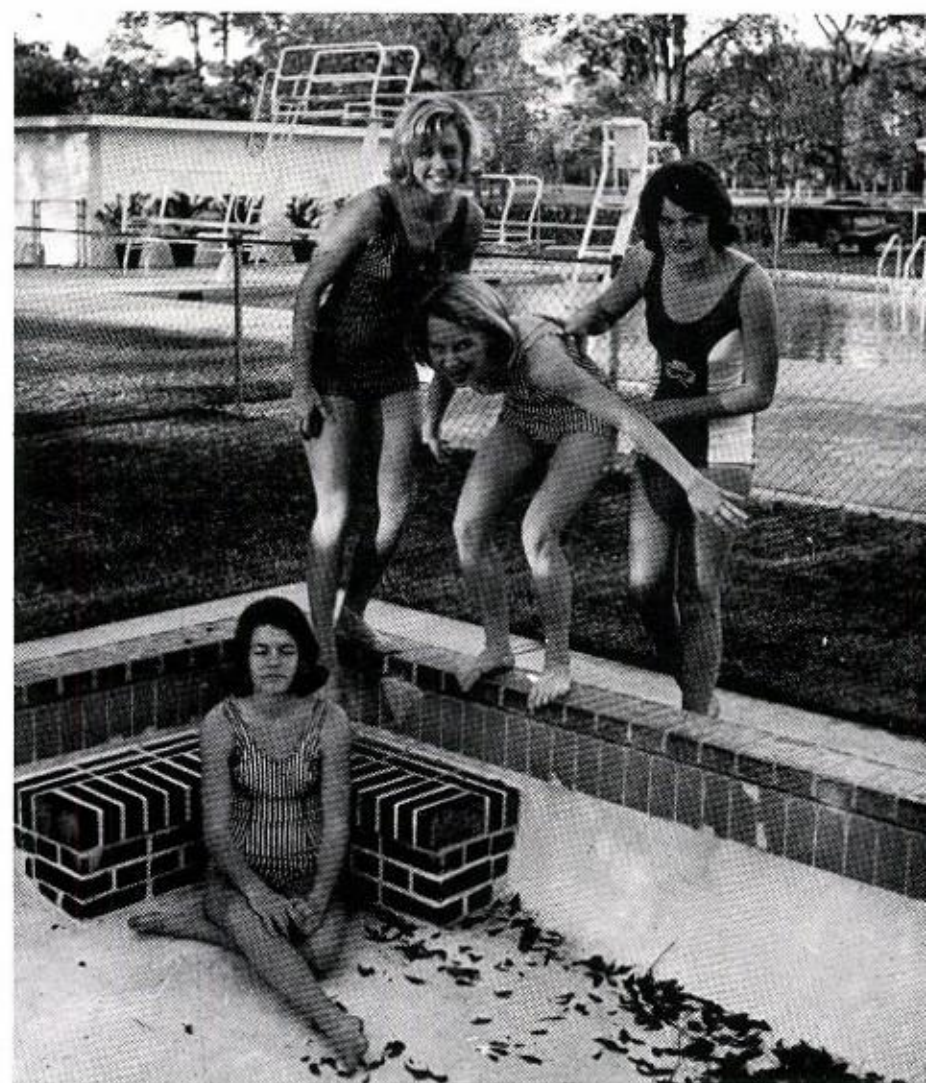

Others

Judy Chaisson and Marsha Casino won the Cherokee Senior Badminton Doubles.

Judy Harris, captain of the winning Cherokee bowling team, tries to knock down her teammates JoAnna Davenport, Geri Allen, Kathy Boehme, and Donna DuPree.

Leslie Lander contemplates the temperature of the water as Nancy Adams is being coaxed to jump in by Pattie Dougherty but Becky Aillet just laughs because she knows there really isn't any water in the pool, only dead leaves.

Kindness

Get set—Go! The first heat of the Cherokee swim meet has begun with Susan Moore, Patti Dahlstrom, Adelaide Moorman, and Sally Reinschmidt starting off. Nervous sideliners are Ann Huck, Gail Ostin, and Susan Seybold.

Excellence

The annual City Archery Tournament was held at Lamar on November 13. Lamar's Jaia Barrett placed first in city.

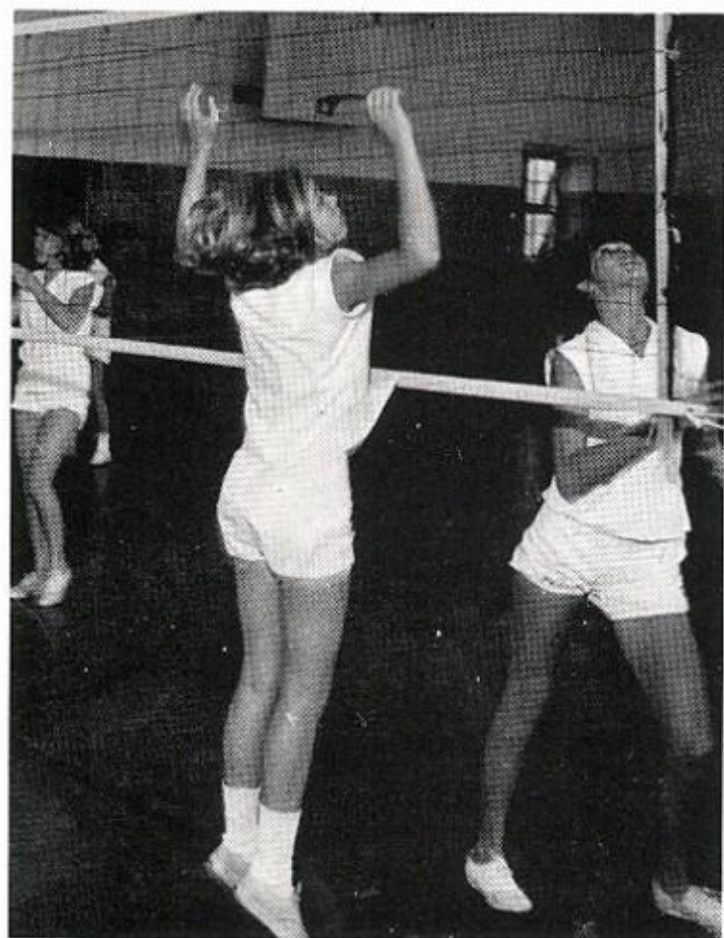

Enthusiasm

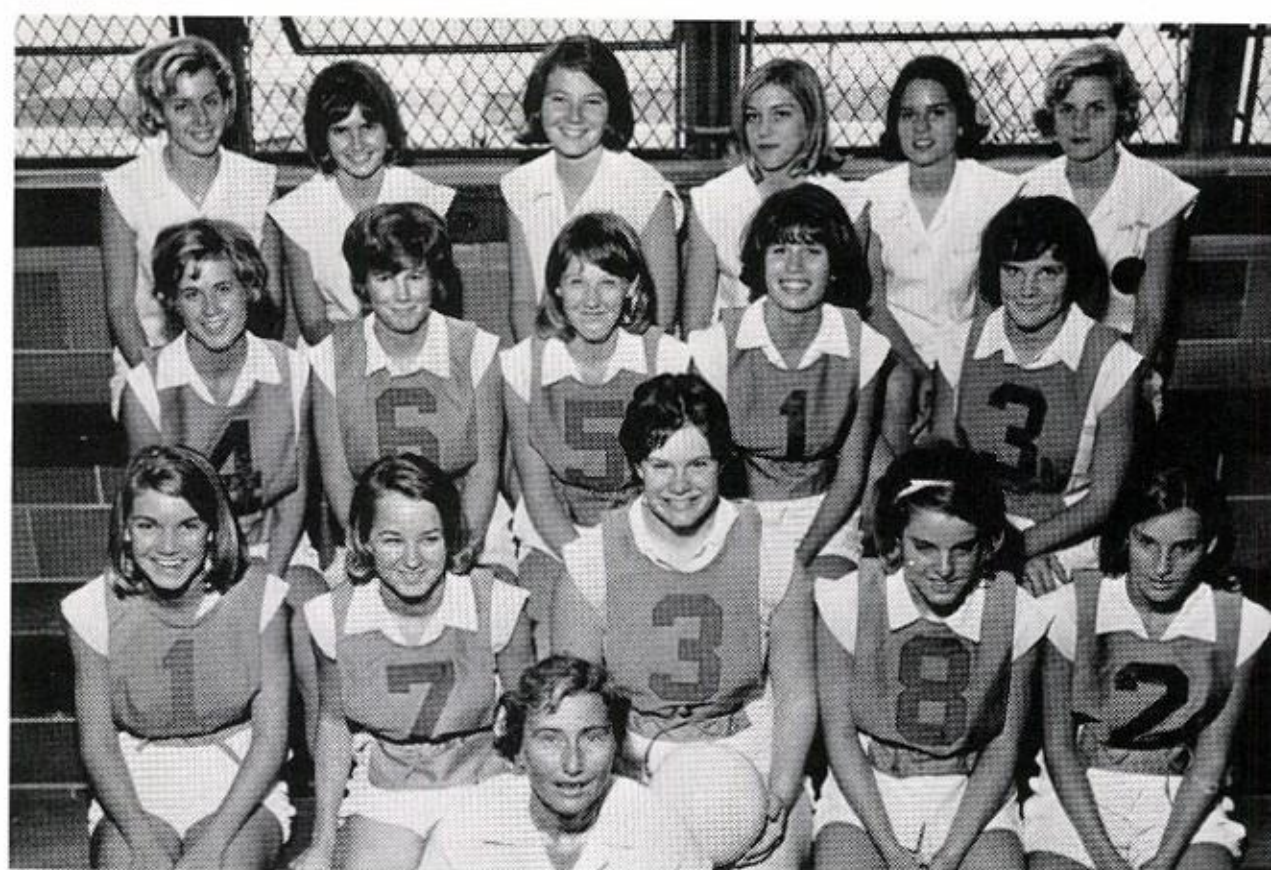

Well, here are the brushes and buckets, but where is the paint!" Our ambitious gym teachers—Mrs. Dorothy Greenway, Mrs. Barbara Gill, Miss Sharon Lester, Mrs. Kitty Lowry, and Miss Elise Hawkins—demonstrate how they color co-ordinated the girls' gym office this summer.

Ann Baker will soon learn that to survive in archery one must fight, not pout.

Janet McRoberts and Elizabeth Roemer get in some daily spiking practice.

During a daily practice the members of the volleyball team try to live up to the motto "Practice Makes Perfect."

Volleyball

Carolyn Davis, electrified by the force of Westbury's spiker, waits with Elizabeth Holmes for the next blow.

Confident team members Karen Smith, Barbara Mendell, Judy Goodman, and Ruthie Skelly wait for Valerie Potter's next move in a big game against Bellaire.

Swimming

The sophomore members of the swimming team got their first taste of high school swimming competition early this spring. They are (ROW ONE) Becky Aillet, Leslie Lander, Linda Wilson, Lulu Santamaria, (ROW TWO) Nan Perry, Pattie Dougherty, Ellen Moore, and Ann Gollwitzer.

Getting a good push-off for the back-stroke are Leslie Lander, Winnie Clark, Valerie Potter, and Nan Perry.

Margaret Anderson and Mary Thompkins try to carry on a friendly conversation with freezing Valerie Potter, Leslie Lander, and Nancy Adams during practice.

Sophomore Lulu Santamaria gives a solo demonstration of the butterfly.

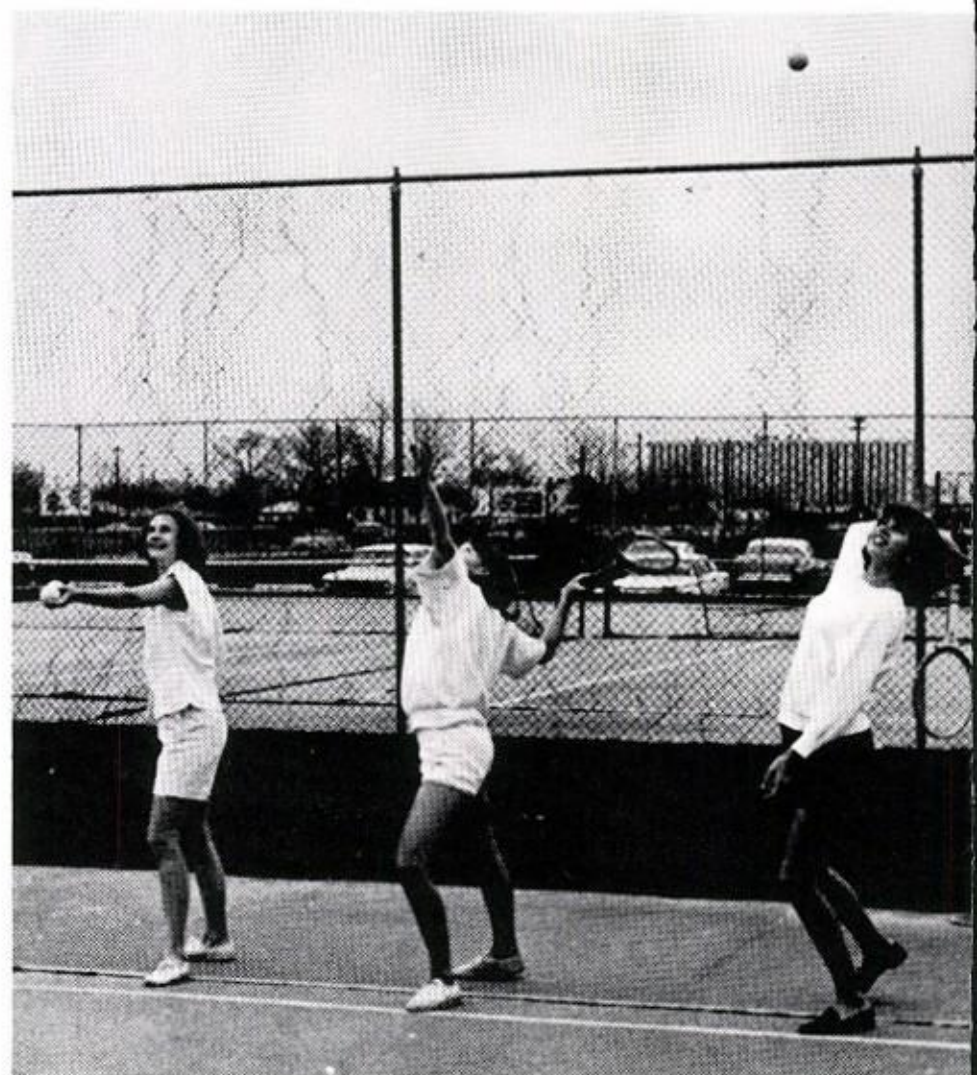

Gad, is it a Comanche attack? No, it's only Cad Simpson, Elle Moore, and Lulu Santamaria practicing their victory leaps.

Nan Perry takes on team mates Nancy Singleton and Mary Holmes in a routine practice.

Tennis

The members of the varsity tennis team might clown around now; but when the tournaments start this spring, it will be all work. ROW ONE: Lulu Santamaria, Carolyn Davis, Liz Roemer, Ellen Morre, Nan Perry. ROW TWO: Nancy Singleton, Mary Holmes, Miss Sharon Lester, Cad Simpson, and Nancy Ditto.

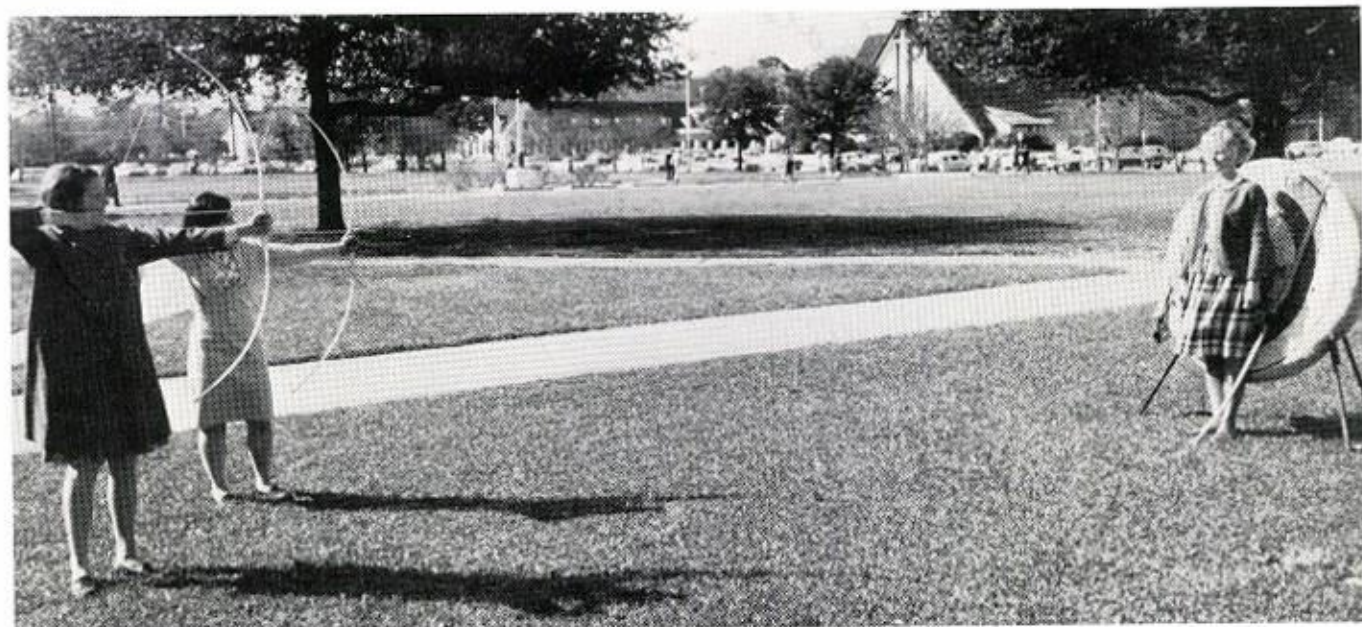

No, it is not the "Line-Up"; it's just Nan Perry, Carolyn Davis, and Liz Roemer practicing their serves.

Preparing the attack on Sherwood Forest is Lamar's City Archery Team: Milly Holmes, Karen Parks, Kaye Parks, Lorna Terrell, Carol Holmes, Bethany Montgomery, Kay Hankinson, Carolyn Baer, Jaia Barrett, Margaret Anderson, Little John, and Friar Tuck.

Archery

Who says that the game "William Tell" has gone out of style? Bethany Montgomery and Carolyn Baer have found a guinea pig (Carol Holmes) for the game.

Stopping for a minute to pose for a picture is Lamar's "B" bowling team: Johanna Davenport, Mary Hilburn, and Nancy Hoefflick.

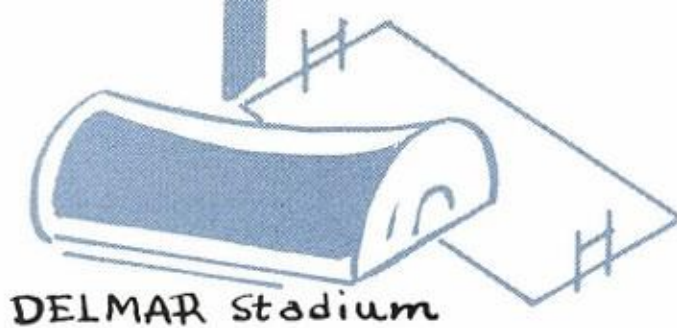

Bowling

Although a serious attitude is displayed while the "A" bowling team practices for their tournaments to be held in the late part of the spring semester, Karen Kavanaugh, Donna DuPree, Judy Harris, Nancy Neilson, Stephanie Dee, and Denise Brown agree that bowling is great fun.

To the student body of Lamar, for whom the book was published, the entire staff wishes as much enjoyment from reading the Orenda as we received from creating it. In future years may you read the 1965 Orenda and have it again remind you that Lamar directed your path to the "Lanes of Learning."

But if I decide to go to Texas,
I'll see you there!
